U. S. BANKS ARE COVERED BY GOOD COLLATERAL

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 29.—Comptroller of the Currency Williams announced today that there were no loans to Allan A. Ryan, of New York, or his firm, held by banks under supervision of the comptroller office which did not at the present seem to be covered sufficiently by collateral.

The comptroller made his announcement after a conference with Mr. Ryan. The comptroller's statement added that so far as he knew, Mr. Ryan was in debt to very few national banks.

NEW YORK, November 29.—Allan A. Ryan, financier, who several months ago aroused the financial world through his alleged manipulations of a corner in Stutz Motor stock, today announced that he had conferred with Samuel Untermyer with a view to retaining the attorney to take charge of the readjustment of his financial affairs.

Mr. Ryan said that Mr. Untermyer had asked for time in which to consider the proposition and that he would make known his decision later in the day.

It is understood that an informal conference of representatives of the banks and trust companies representing the largest creditors of Mr. Ryan will take place today, but no further statement dealing with his assets and liabilities is likely to be issued at this time.

Mandatory Commission Approved

GENEVA, Nov. 28—The council of the League of Nations today approved the final draft of the project for the permanent mandates commission, definitely accepting the tentative proposal to have the commission comprise five non-mandatory and four mandatory powers. It was decided that all the members be chosen by the council.

The permanent commission, it is looked, will probably meet once a year at Geneva and review the administration of the mandate holding countries.

Detailed rules for the commission also were ratified.

The council did not consider today the proposed invitation to the United States for its participation in the discussion over disarmament.

Earthquake Shock Recorded

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—An earthquake shock of moderate intensity was recorded today on the seismograph at Georgetown university. The shock began at 5:40 a. m. and continued until 7 a. m. It was estimated that the disturbance was 5,100 miles from Washington, probably in South America.

Kitchin Has Second Stroke

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Representative Claude Kitchin, Democratic leader of the house, suffered a stroke of paralysis while attending to business pertaining to his district at the postoffice department building today. Physicians were summoned and pronounced the attack a slight one. This is the second stroke Kitchin has suffered. The first one occurred on the floor of the house last spring, following the delivery of a speech.

Principals Rehearsed Weeks For Biggest Train Robbery

COUNCIL BLUFFS, IA., November 29.—A tabloid chronological history of the big events in the Council Bluffs mail robbery, the biggest ever perpetrated in the United States, has been pieced together by Chief Inspector Nosh, who has charge of the investigation. Here it is:

Robbery of mail car planned October 26, by two Phillips boys; Merle and Orville, and Fred Poffenbarger. They and others met at the home of T. A. Daly frequently and rehearsed every detail. Also rehearsed confessions to be made if arrested. Planned to throw blame on "mysterious Omahans."

On the day of the robbery the chauffeur of the "bandit car" took the Phillips boys and Poffenbarger to Union Pacific transfer in Council Bluffs.

Merle Phillips got in the engine, telling the engineer he wanted to ride to the station.

Orville Phillips and Poffenbarger got on the step of the mail car. The automobile followed the slowly-moving train along the road.

Poffenbarger smashed the window of the mail car door with a gun, unfastened the door and he and Orville got in. As the train slowed down by the Rock Island crossing, they threw out the first ten sacks they could get.

The chauffeur of the automobile picked up the sacks. The boys jumped out of the car and were joined by Merle Phillips. The chauffeur placed five of the sacks in the automobile and drove away, leaving the boys with the other five.

The Phillips boys hurried away with three sacks. Poffenbarger grabbed one sack, leaving the fifth.

The robbery was pulled in only four minutes' time.

Merle Phillips, arrested later, confessed after twelve hours of grilling. Others were then arrested, including H. A. Reed, roomer.

The two Phillips boys and Poffenbarger have been held to the federal grand jury on a charge of robbing the United States mails. Daly and his wife, Clyde and Fred E. Poffenbarger and Reed are held, charged with concealing the money, at the home of Daly, who helped to hide the money.

U. S. TROOPS REACH WEST VIRGINIA; QUIET IN MINGO COAL FIELDS

WILLIAMSON, W. VA., November 29.—Federal troops brought into Mingo county yesterday at the request of Governor Cornwell, were today dispersed at strategic points throughout the district, where miners have been on strike since last July. Colonel Herman Hall, commanding the troops, had the situation well in hand and no disorders were reported.

The question of placing the county under martial law was still under discussion, it was said, though it was known that the civil authorities of the state desired that such action be taken.

The failure of county authorities to promptly meet the disorders of the past few weeks was explained today by Judge R. D. Bailey, of the circuit court of Mingo and Wyoming counties, by lack of money with which to pay a sufficient force of deputy sheriffs.

Conflicting stories concerning the status of the strike were prevalent throughout the county today. Coal operators estimated that of the five thousand miners in Mingo county the strikers numbered between 1,500 and 2,000, and that production had increased from 3,000 tons in July, when the strike was called, to sixty thousand tons for the first half of November.

David Fowler, representing the international organization of the United Mine Workers, emphatically denied that the strike was broken, declaring: "We have just begun to fight."

The ten colonies established by the United Mine Workers for striking miners and their families are still well filled.

While the region was quiet, this morning the county was discussing a number of outbreaks, without serious casualties, on the eve of the arrival of the federal troops. A dozen or more shots, it was reported, had been fired at a party of men bringing coal out of the Frederick mine of the Howard Collieries Company at Chattaroy on Saturday. State police with blood hounds succeeded in finding one striker, but the evidence at hand failed to show that shots had been fired at anything but wild game in the hills and the man was released.

Storm Warning Is Issued In Lake Regions

CHICAGO, November 29.—Storm warnings were ordered hoisted over the Lake Superior, Lake Michigan and Lake Huron district at 10:00 a. m. by the weather bureau. A northeast gale will sweep Lake Superior tonight and a southeast gale will move over Lakes Michigan and Huron, it was announced. The gales will be accompanied by snow and rain.

Chicago-St. Paul Aerial Mail

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Daily aerial mail service between Chicago and St. Paul an dMinneapolis started at 8 o'clock this morning when a plane piloted by William Carroll left the mail field here with 500 pounds of mail.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL NOT BAR AMERICANS WHO PLAN PROBE IN IRELAND

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1920, by Times Pub. Co.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27—The committee of five Americans who plan to investigate conditions in Ireland will have no difficulty about their passports. The British government has determined to take no official cognizance of the matter and the British embassy here is treating the request for the "visa" or approval of passports in much the same way as it would treat the request of any American citizen.

Similarly the department of state will issue passports to the committee in the same routine way that passports are given to any American who wants to go to Great Britain on pleasure or business. There has been some talk in the last few days that the department of state might decline to issue passports on the ground that the visit of the commission might be regarded as an interference in the politics of another country but the commission on the other hand is an entirely private affair and its request for passports does not differ from that of five newspaper men or any other group of individuals who want to write about conditions in another country. The department of state will not be responsible for the reports or utterance of the commission any more than it is for the writings of American correspondents residing in Ireland or anywhere else in Europe.

British Have Right to Bar 'Em

Of course it was entirely within the right of the British government to refuse approval to the passports of the commission. Frequently during the war the United States government would issue passports but the French or British governments would refuse to approve them and the would-be passengers were turned back at the steamers by the officers of the ship because none of the steamship companies would accept passengers who did not have their passports approved in advance by the consular or diplomatic representatives in the United States of the country of destination.

The British government might have refused to approve the passports of the investigating commission without necessarily giving any reasons but such a step would only aggravate

French Send Warships To Greece

TOULON, FRANCE, November 29.—The French battleship Lorraine left here for Piraeus, Greece, today. The cruiser Ernest Renan departed for the same destination last night, while the armored cruiser Waldeck-Rousseau, which has been at Constantinople, arrived at Piraeus Friday.

One more battleship, three cruisers, and several torpedo boats have been ordered to proceed to Piraeus and the French will have a formidable squadron in that port by December 5, the date on which the plebiscite regarding the return of Former King Constantine will be held.

Eat The Right Food To Make You Strong

One's physical condition is more dependent on the food he eats than on any other thing.

A perfect body can no more be built from improper food than a Swiss watch can be built from a junk pile.

It therefore behooves every individual to take thought of his food—to find out if the proper materials in the proper proportions enter into his three square meals a day.

Held In Killing, Accuse Holdups Of The Murder

Marie Phillips and Peter D. Treadway.

Peter D. Treadway and a girl companion, Marie Phillips, when arrested in Wheeling, W. Va., in connection with the murder of Henry T. Peirce, manufacturer's agent of Philadelphia, denied they killed Peirce. They say that an acquaintance and another man killed the victim and then forced them to drive him to Wheeling in Peirce's car. Peirce was found dead. A wrench, thought to have been used to kill him, was found in his room.

Select Jury To Join Building Trust Probe

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—Selection of an extraordinary grand jury ordered to inquire into criminal evidence uncovered by the joint legislative committee in its investigation of the alleged "building trust" was begun today Supreme Court Justice McAvoy.

Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel for the committee, indicated that a request to Governor Smith for a second extraordinary grand jury would be made within a short time. The large mass of evidence accumulated by the committee was declared to assure several weeks work for two grand juries in addition to the present jury which has returned several indictments.

Selection of a jury to try George Backer, wealthy builder charged with perjury, was continued before Judge Rosalsky in the court of general sessions today.

Ex-Kaiserin Is Slightly Improved

DOORN, Holland, Nov. 29—The former German empress, Augusta Victoria, whose illness from a heart affliction took a turn for the worse yesterday, was reported better by her physician this morning. The ex-empress, it was said, had passed a good night.

Shoe Manufacturers Seek Abolition Of Bonus

LYNN, MASS., November 29—The shoe manufacturers of this city today made formal request of the joint council, United Shoe Workers of America, for abolition of the wage bonus of 12 1-2 to 20 percent that has been paid for more than a year. This is the first general step towards reduction of wages in this city, where normally 15,000 operatives are employed in 100 factories engaged largely in the making of women's shoes.

Action on the proposal to abolish the bonus will take about three weeks as each local union must act on it by referendum.

FAMOUS X-RAY SPECIALIST DIES

PARIS, November 29.—Dr. Charles Infroit, famous X-ray specialist, is dead, according to announcement.

One of Dr. Infroit's hands became infected in 1896 as a result of his constant use of the X-ray and an operation was performed. Since that time he has undergone 23 operations, 22 of which were performed in the last ten years.

The last was on August 1, when his right arm and left wrist were amputated. His announcement in 1915 in the academy of medicine of Paris that he had extracted a shrapnel bullet from the heart of a soldier, was read with interest throughout the world.

Cable Row To Be Probed By Senators

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 29.—The whole question of cable landings in the United States, including the present controversy between the Western Union Telegraph Company, and the state department, is to be investigated by a senate committee, it was announced today by Senator Kellogg, Republican, Minnesota.

Senator Kellogg said the inquiry would be held in connection with his pending bill proposing to empower the state department to regulate cable connections in this country. He added that he already had requested Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union, and other cable companies to have representatives at the hearing. State department officers, also will be invited to attend.

Resigns Because of Ill Health

PITTSBURGH, PA., November 29.—The Rt. Rev. Bishop J. F. Regis Canevin, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Roman Catholic church, has resigned, it was announced here today. Bishop Canevin took this action because of ill health, it was said.

Wilson To Stay In Capital; Will Devote Time To Writing

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 29.—Although it has been generally understood that President Wilson after he leaves the White House on March 4, will devote his time to writing, this fact became known today with a degree of finality. It also became known that Mr. Wilson will make his home in Washington, but thus far he has not obtained a residence.

Joseph P. Tumulty, the president's secretary, also plans to remain in Washington after March 4 and he intends to write some books about the president, with whom he has been associated for the past ten years. Mr. Tumulty has been offered a place on the customs court of appeals, but he has reached no decision as to accepting the appointment.

LONDON ON GUARD FOR OPENING OF DOMESTIC WARFARE

LONDON, November 29.—The public galleries of the house of commons were closed this afternoon and the approaches to the house of parliament guarded by extra police as a precaution against possible untoward incidents, following the disclosure of an alleged Sinn Fein conspiracy for operations in England.

LONDON, Nov. 29—American "gunmen" are said to have made their appearance in Londonderry, Ireland, according to advices received here today. The presence of these mercenaries in Dublin and other Irish cities have previously been reported. The military authorities of Londonderry are taking all precautions in the event of attempted assassinations.

The police of Liverpool, dispatches from that city say, also believe American "gunmen" have invaded Liverpool. The police claim to have established connection between Sinn Fein headquarters and numerous strangers who are idling about the streets in groups of two or three and having the appearance of desperadoes.

LONDON, November 29.—Edward Shortt, the home secretary, declared in the house of commons this afternoon in reply to questions regarding Saturday night's incendiary dock fires in Liverpool that there seemed no doubt that the fires were the result of an organized conspiracy in which members of the Sinn Fein party were engaged.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 29—Fifteen warehouses in Liverpool and Bootle, a suburb, principally cotton warehouses in Liverpool, were set on fire last night. Two of the cotton warehouses in Liverpool were burned out. Gasoline cans and paraffin were found about the premises. It was stated in police quarters there was strong evidence that the fires were the work of Sinn Feiners.

Some shooting occurred after the outbreak of the flames. Constables on the scene were fired at and bullets passed through the clothing of some of them, but none was injured. One civilian was shot dead.

Five men were arrested in connection with the incendiary outbreak.

Prepared For Domestic War

LONDON, Nov. 29—London and other big English cities are grimly preparing to meet conditions of domestic warfare.

Red lights glowing in the night barricades in White Hall lend a sinister aspect to the official "heart of the empire," menaced by the twin dangers of Sinn Fein outrages and the possibility of Bolsherist disturbances.

General Horwood, in command of the London area, threw up the defenses in Downing street and around the houses of parliament and other public buildings as the result of the seizure of important documents. The documents had hardly been read when the defense of the ministerial offices was proclaimed, as the papers disclosed the plans to attack the ministry and wreck historic government offices. There is no reason to doubt that the defenses have been erected primarily as a protection against Irish gunmen, but they incidentally enable the police to deal more efficiently with the grave problems of London's huge army of unemployed.

"Movie Mob" Dispersed

LONDON, Nov. 29—What at first might have been taken for a genuine move on the government buildings in Whitehall street was made this morning when a small crowd attempted to pass the barriers recently erected by the police at the entrances to Downing and Charles street. The crowd, however, was made up of about 150 supernumeraries sent by a moving picture company for photographic purposes only.

The "mob" whose attempt at the barricade was a mild one, was dispersed by the police, the camera men meantime cranking vigorously.

Attempt To Fire Lumber File

LONDON, Nov. 29—Half a dozen men who were preparing to set fire to a large lumber yard in the district of Finsbury, an important section of the city of London, less than a mile north of London bridge, were surprised by a policeman Saturday night. This attempt was almost coincident with the breaking out of incendiary fires in Liverpool.

The policeman challenged a loiterer who immediately attacked the officer and shouted for help. Five men with revolvers answered his call, emerging from behind some empty wagons and rushing the policeman, who was compelled to liberate the man he had seen. All the men escaped.

Searching behind the wagons, the policeman found cotton waste soaked with gasoline had been pushed through a gateway of a lumber yard and he also discovered two revolvers and 100 cartridges.

One of the supposed incendiaries was later arrested.

MAY LET THE TURKISH TREATY REVISE ITSELF

PARIS, November 29.—To let the Turkish treaty revise itself if the allies can not agree upon its revision is the official French plan that Premier Leygues will present to Premier Lloyd George, of Great Britain, and Count Sforza, the Italian foreign minister, when M. Leygues returns to London tomorrow for the resumption of the conferences between these representatives of the three powers with regard to the Greek and other pressing situations, it was indicated in official quarters today. By letting the treaty revise itself the French foreign office means, it was explained, that if French and British support is withdrawn from Greece, the Turks can regain much of the territory taken from them by the treaty, although the allies would make sure of retaining their hold upon the straits of the Dardanelles and the Turkish finances.

Of the five big powers which signed the peace treaty—Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan—three must ratify the pact to make it effective. Attention was called by the foreign office to the fact that none of them has as yet ratified the treaty, and that it appeared unlikely that any three of them would do so now, for was there expectation that Turkey herself would effect ratification in the present circumstances.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—Adv.)

Auto Bandits Carry Away Two Safes

CLEVELAND, O., November 29.—Auto bandits carried away two safes last night, the loot in both robberies totalling $1,000. A safe in the Brooks Oil Company's down town filling station, containing $1,000, was stolen and another safe containing $600 was stolen from a west side confectionery store and later found, battered open, in Lakewood.

Dies Enroute From Paris

ROME, November 29.—Pietro Bertolini, Italian member of the allied reparations commission, died late yesterday on board a train on which he was coming to this city from Paris.

Scorched Feet.

"When he was on earth, sire," replied an imp, "he went to revivals and got converted once or twice a year. He just now mistook a white-hot cinder path for a sawdust trail."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Triumph Of Faith Is Pleasing Cantata

The Rigelow church choir's rendering of the Triumph of Faith last night was a high Christian ministry quickening the intellect and undergirding the spirit. Whatever their tasks may be the hundreds who were present will do better work this week because they heard. Faith shall no more surely triumph in our lives as the words and melody of the Cantata echo and re-echo in our memory.

The church was taxed to its utmost capacity. Nothing could have added to the perfection of the program save perhaps a forewarning of the ushers of the crowds who were coming. Chairs had to be brought from the class rooms.

From the opening chord of the first to the closing amen of the last chorus the most exacting critic could only praise both instrumental and chorus work. Complete mastery of the music, mutual sympathy and support, and the inspiration of a packed church made inevitable the perfect work of the choir.

Without exception the soloists left the audience with mingled feelings of exaltation and regret that the individual singer's part of the program was not longer. This was very true of Miss Staiger's rendering of the soprano part. Mr. Biggles' singing of the "Dream of Youth" brought from his listeners an involuntary prayer that every youth and maiden should be fitted for the task of their tomorrow. One could imagine no finer technique or fuller sympathy with the lean parts than Mr. Goddard proved himself to possess. In the recitative one felt the true worth and dignity of life. And in his second solo the certainty of our Christian victory.

The director is receiving much commendation for having secured Mrs. C. E. Nodier and Mr. W. H. Head, for the program. The sweet stillness of the former's voice had there been no words, would have brought the message of God's healing. In Mr. Head's offering one realized the power of his maturity and his mastery of the part. As he sand one could see the multitudes on the highway nearing the open gates.

Mrs. S. B. Timmonds and Mrs. Rea Selby are receiving unmeasured thanks for their handling of the organ and piano. There will be many requests for future programs with the same instrumentation.

All present last night will be glad to know that another Cantata is promised for Christmas. Harker's "The Star of Bethlehem" has been chosen. It will be given Sunday night Dec. 26th.

It will be presented with high grade pageantry. Sunday night December 26th.

The members of Mrs. Timmond's staff are now giving their attention to the matter. Watch for further announcement.

To Face Charge Of Stealing Automobile

Noah Holt, well known local police character, who was apprehended by the authorities of Paris, Ky., as a fugitive from justice, was returned here Sunday by Sheriff Rickey to meet a charge of stealing an automobile from this city last June.

The stolen machine was a Ford touring car belonging to Walter Spriggs, Jackson county farmer, and it was taken from the Interstate barn on Fifth street on the night of June 14.

The arrest of Holt followed the finding of the missing machine at a garage at Washington C. H., and he was identified by the garage owner as the man who left the machine at his place.

A few hours before he was to be brought to trial before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court, the accused jumped his $500 bond and fled to Kentucky. Holt strenuously denied his guilt and his attorneys, A. C. Woodrow and Harry W. Miller were unable to explain his strange conduct in running away.

Charged With Disorderly Conduct

Two young men giving their names as James Stone, 18, and Charles Hudson, 18, were taken into custody by the police Sunday night and locked up at the city jail on charges of disorderly conduct.

The pair created quite a disturbance at Shepherd's restaurant on Tenth street, according to the police, when they attempted to break into a room there.

Accused Of Hunting On The Bannon Farm Without Permit

Three men giving the names of John Wilburn, Ballard Salyer and A. T. Murphy were arrested Monday on a charge of hunting on the Bannon Farm on the Scioto Trail without permission of the owners. They will be given a hearing in municipal court this week. Warrants for their arrests were signed by Deputy Game Protector F. D. Voorhees.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT TO BE HEARD

What promises to be one of the biggest legal battles ever fought in the local court, is scheduled to start before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court Wednesday morning when the big damage suit of The Robert Grace Contracting company of Pittsburgh against The Chesapeake & Ohio Northern Railway company will go to trial.

The plaintiff is seeking to recover almost a quarter million dollars on a claim for damages and for extras on its contract for building the railroad through parts of Scioto and Pike counties in 1914 and 1915.

Quite an array of legal talent will appear in the case and many expert witnesses from a distance will be here to testify during the course of the trial, which is expected to require at least three weeks to finish.

Attorneys Frank Dinsmore and Floyd Williams, of Cincinnati, and Miller & Searl, of this city, will appear for plaintiff and Attorneys Fred C. Rector of Columbus, and Bannon and Bannon and A. Z. Blair, of this city, will represent the railroad company.

SHRINE CLUB DANCE WILL BE BIG AFFAIR

Judging in the interest taken in the Shrine Club dance to be held at the Auditorium, Gallia and Bond streets tomorrow, Tuesday evening November 30, the crowd will be one of the largest in the history of local dancing. The Shriners have left nothing undone to make the affair a very happy event and to add to the gayety of the occasion are giving the dance complimentary to the Knights Templars and Scottish Rite Masons, together with their wives, sisters and sweethearts. According to H. Glen Dale, secretary of the Shrine Club, it will be necessary for the Knights Templars and Scottish Rite Masons to show their badge receipts at the door. The dance will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock. Hills famous orchestra will furnish the music. Refreshments will be served by the club complimentary to all who attend.

MRS. NANCY SHARP, of Los Angeles, who says she suffered one of the greatest sacrifices of her life when Tanlac completely restored her health after she had almost lost hope of ever getting well. Sickness she suffered for twelve long years.

"After seeing the wonderful results my husband obtained from Tanlac I began taking the medicine myself, and now we both agree that it is the grandest medicine on earth", said Mrs. Nancy Sharp, a prominent and highly esteemed resident of Los Angeles, Calif., living at 921 Camulus street, whose husband is proprietor of the Merchants' Express Co.

"During the twelve years that I suffered with indigestion and stomach trouble I tried nearly every medicine I heard about, but nothing helped me and I lost faith in everything. So, my wonderful restoration to health has been one of the greatest surprises of my life.

"I began to feel an improvement on finishing my second bottle of Tanlac, and now after taking six bottles, I am like a new woman. I have a splendid appetite, eat three hearty meals a day, enjoy them thoroughly and am never troubled in the least with indigestion or any other disagreeable after effects.

"Before taking Tanlac most everything I ate caused my stomach to rebel and I would suffer for hours afterwards. I was so dreadfully nervous that many nights I never closed my eyes in sleep, but now I am not the least nervous, and I sleep like a child. My strength has been wonderfully increased, and I have much more energy.

"I just wish it was so everybody troubled like I was knew about this wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Portsmouth by The Fisher and Stretch Pharmacy and the leading druggists in every town.

Daringly Yet Delicately "The House of Toys" Dissects Life, Love and Marriage, Offering its Parts for the Benefit of Young Husbands and Wives and all who are contemplating Matrimony. See it at the Temple Tonight only. Also Snub Pollard in "Insulting the Sultan." A great Bill. Don't Miss it.

Don't come to the Temple tonight if you are a fan who craves melodrama—if you revel in buckets of blood—if you must have something wild and wooly to interest you.

Why? Because "The House of Toys" is just an intensely intimate panorama of married life in which love, faith and sympathy triumph over discouragement and discontent. It is a play that will bring happiness and understanding into many a home over which now hovers the grim shadow of divorce. It is a play for every wife and mother—for every engaged girl and for their husbands and sons and sweethearts as well.

The splendid cast includes Seena Owen.

While there is nothing indelicate in this production, the management would advise leaving all the children under sixteen years of age at home as the picture will not interest them.

A Snub Pollard comedy brimming over with hearty laughs will send you away vowing that you never spent a more enjoyable and at the same time a more profitable evening.

HEAL SKIN DISEASES

Apply Zemo, Clean, Penetrating, Antiseptic Liquid

It is unnecessary for you to suffer with eczema, blotches, ringworm, rashes and similar skin troubles. Zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c, or $1.00 for extra large bottle, and promptly applied, will usually give instant relief from itching torture. It cleanses and soothes the skin and heals quickly and effectively most skin diseases.

Zemo is a wonderful, penetrating, disappearing liquid and is soothing to the most delicate skin. It is not greasy, is easily applied and costs little. Get it today and save all further distress.

In skin troubles, ordinary soaps are irritating and liable to aggravate the condition. Use Zemo soap. It is antiseptic, soothing, and hastens the process of healing.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, crooked tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

James Oliver Curwood's Famous Story of the Snow Country "God's Country and the Woman" Featuring Wm. Duncan and Nell Shipman is the Thrilling Attraction at the Eastland Theatre for Two Nights Starting Tonight. Another Big Story of the Northwest by the Same Author of "Back to God's Country," and "The Courage of Marge O'Doone." Everybody is Going to See This Picture so Come Early.

PROGRAM TONIGHT

A Musical Prologue "Devotion"—Used as Theme of the Feature.

"God's Country and the Woman."

"Screen Snapshots" News from the Studios.

Extra Added Feature Comedy Harry Asbury in "The Trouble Hunter."

A terrific fight for the life and love of a woman features "God's Country and the Woman" the picturization of James Oliver Curwood's famous story of the Northern Hunting lands which has been seen at the Eastland Theatre tonight.

A ruthless gang from the "Devil's Nest" armed and barricaded in their lair, are waging a battle fight against the trained woodsmen who have rallied to the aid of the woman. The leader of the gang seeing fortune turning against him, is about to make his escape, taking the woman with him.

But help comes from an unexpected quarter. When human strength has failed her the woman unleashes the hunting fury of the wolfhounds she has made her strange companions and they leap to kill.

It is a thrilling climax to a dramatic story of rare power and vigor. The acting of William Duncan, the featured player and the all-star cast, the faithfulness of the settings to the atmosphere of the far woods and the splendid, artistry and charm of Curwood's story and its visualization on the screen make a production that will linger long and vividly in the memory of those who see it.

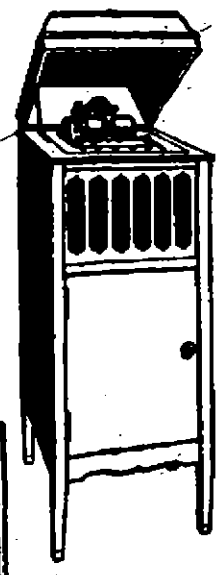
Thomas A. Edison Wants To See An Amberola In YOUR Home This Christmas!



Last year many thousands of families enjoyed an Amberola on Christmas as the result of Mr. Edison's expressed wish to bring music to every home in the land. This Christmas will witness more thousands of Edison's Amberola Phonographs in happy homes on Christmas morning, because you again have the opportunity to own an Amberola practically on your own terms! Just think what this means!

EDISON'S NEW DIAMOND

is the world's greatest phonograph value—perfected in every detail by the inventor of the phonograph! The Amberola has proved its superiority over high-priced "talking machines" and commercial phonographs in numerous public tests! And you can own this wonderful phonograph—you and your family can enjoy its exquisite music this Christmas right in your home—even though you have felt you could not yet afford a phonograph!

Remember, as Mr. Edison's authorized dealer, we are bound to carry out the spirit of his wish—it is up to us to make it possible for you to own an Amberola right away! We are ready and willing to do so. We know the Christmas season is a drain on your resources—at this time you cannot make any big expenditure. Well, you won't have to! You can have an Amberola practically on your own terms! Let us know just how much or how little you can pay now, and what future payments will be most convenient and easy for you—and we will work out a satisfactory arrangement. We insist on only one condition—

Act Immediately! Come to our store or write to us at once—every minute is valuable. Otherwise our stock of Amberolas may be exhausted and we may have to disappoint you. If you want an Amberola in your home Christmas morning, call or write today—tomorrow—please!

City's Fire Rate Is Low

Safety Director Si Straus stated Monday that Portsmouth's total fire loss so far this year was only $6,200. He says this is by far the lowest fire rate any city any where near the size of Portsmouth will have this year in Ohio.

Mayor is Home

Mayor William N. Coldeman has returned from a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beers of Charleston.

More Plugs Around Plants

The safety department under the direction of Si Straus is putting in additional fire plugs around some of the larger plants in the city. Plugs are also being placed in other sections of the city.

Collected $170 Fees

City Electrical Inspector Albert Gerlach turned in $170 to the safety department Monday. He collected this sum in fees the last month.

THIS IS LAST WEEK OF RED CROSS DRIVE; HAVE YOU ENROLLED?

This is the last week of the Fourth Red Cross Roll Call, and now is the time for everyone who has not joined to pay their dollar for a membership in one of the greatest organizations of the world.

The Red Cross membership campaign will be brought to a close this week sure, Fourth Red Cross Roll Call Chairman Orla E. Rickey announced Saturday.

The total membership so far is around the 3700 mark, but this week the house-to-house canvassers finishing their work and the county districts completing their campaign, along with the drive to be made at the steel plant, it is hoped to end the Roll Call with the membership totalling near the 5,000 mark.

It will take some hard work to get the 1,300 needed memberships to make this total, but the workers are going to do their best this week to accomplish this end.

All who have not taken out a membership for 1921 in the Red Cross are urged to do so at once. Should any of the membership solicitors miss you it is all right to send a dollar and your name and address to the Red Cross office, First National Bank building.

MUST PUT "MUFFLER" ON MEETINGS

Arthur Caudill, leader of the meetings conducted at the building at 1102 Twelfth street under the designation of "Full Gospel Mission" must put on a muffler so as to decrease the noise resulting from the holding of the services, according to a decree of Judge Thomas in the injunction suit of Eunice A. Gunn, 1103, Twelfth street, against Caudill and others.

In his finding the court decreed that the services are conducted in such a boisterous manner and at such unreasonable hours as to be a nuisance and menace to the neighborhood in generall and that the misconduct of the defendant and those harbored by him is such that it is ordered abated and enjoined as a nuisance.

Caudill is further enjoined from conducting the services as formerly or in any way other than in a reasonably quiet and decent manner and so as not to disturb the peace and comfort of the neighborhood, according to an approved entry ordered put on the court journal Monday.

15 AUXILIARY POLICE CADETS KILLED

MACCROOM, COUNTY CORK, IRELAND, November 29.—Fifteen auxiliary police cadets were killed and one cadet mortally wounded as the result of an ambush by between 70 and 100 men near Kilmichael, southwest of here last evening. Another of the cadets is missing.

Fitting Exercises Mark Flag Presentation

On Sunday afternoon South Webster Council No. 14 Jr. O. U. A. M. presented to the new Bloom Township high school at South Webster a large American flag and a Bible. The officers and members of the lodge met at the hall and headed by school teachers and children paraded to the high school building where the flag presentation exercises were held. The auditorium was packed and all present enjoyed the program given. The program was under the able leadership of the teachers and principal. The program was very appropriate covering the history of the United States and the flag from the days of Washington to the present.

The program was a follows:

Uncle Sam's Picture Gallery—High School Students.

Recitation—Mary E. Shope.

Song—By the grades.

Recitation—Lawrence Ach.

Play—Our First Flag—High School Students.

The Three Flags, American, French, English.

Flag Drill—Primary Grade.

Recitation—American Flag—Gladys Jackson.

The presentation was made by Henry Ribble of New Boston Council No. 288 and the address of acceptance by Dr. A. G. Stevens on behalf of the Bloom Township School Board and Principal N. H. Potts on behalf of the school.

A. B. Fenton of South Webster acted as chairman. Miss Eva Potts presided at the piano.

Delegations of members from New Boston Council No. 288 and Portsmouth Council No. 33 attended the exercises.

Legion Club Rooms Opened; Drop 'Round, You're Welcome

Members of the James H. Dickey Post, American Legion are urgently to inspect the local Post's club rooms that have been fitted up in rooms 24 and 25 Turley building. Quite a few members inspected the rooms Sunday afternoon when they were opened for the first time.

The club rooms have been needed for some time as the Legion members did not have a place where they could hold their meetings. With the club rooms opened it is hoped interest will be revived in the local Post.

For the present the club rooms will be opened on evenings and Sunday afternoon only but should the members display much interest in the rooms they will be kept open all the time.

Members who have musical instruments are urged to bring them to the club rooms.

Falls Off Water Wagon

Sam Viears, New Boston fell off the water wagon Sunday and was locked up by New Boston officers. Monday he was fined $5 by Mayor J. S. Davis for taking aboard too much "moonshine."

Car Is Damaged

A new Chevrolet touring car left the road and was slightly damaged Sunday about noon on Gallia pike just east of Lindsey Hollow. The driver of the machine lost control of the car and it went down a several foot embankment and into a field. The windshield was broken and the top was damaged.

Typhoid Unchecked In Salem

ALLIANCE, O., November 29.—Dr. Bordenet, of the state board of health, who has charge of the typhoid fever epidemic at Salem, stated this afternoon that fifteen new cases had developed since Saturday, bringing the total number of patients in the stricken city up to 532. No deaths have been reported so far today.

Has Opened New Grocery

S. J. Johnson has resigned his position with the Western and Southern Life Insurance Company after nineteen years of service. He has been with the local office 15 years coming to this city from Chillicothe. He has opened a grocery in the former Ruthy grocery room on Sinton street between Second and Third streets. He has many friends in the city and his venture no doubt will be a success.

Its Effect.

"No wonder Elsie never puts up her hair in papers or patent arrangements. Her husband is such a passionate man." "What has that to do with it?" "Why, his language when he gets excited is enough to make any one's hair curl."

Easter Island.

Easter Island is in Polynesia, and was so named because it was discovered on Easter day, April 6, 1722, by a man named Roggeveen. The inhabitants have no name for it. It has been an unorganized dependency of Chile since 1888.

Insects Cause Big Loss.

Shade trees and ornamental shrubs in the United States represent a value of $1,000,000,000, according to the estimate of the United States Department of Agriculture. Ten million dollars' damage is done annually by shade-tree insects.

What, Indeed!

Bobby's mother asked him why he had not done what she had told him to do. He replied with a serious air: "Well, mother, what are you going to do when your forgetter is bigger than your thinker?"

FIGHT TO THE DEATH

SILVER NET AND FILET LACE COMBINE IN THIS DELICATE COSTUME BLOUSE

Here is one of the most charming of the season's blouses. It is developed in dull silver net with a front panel or vestee of filet lace. A girdle of narrow silk ribbon in a "blue soldat" shade ties with studied arelessness at the side. The blouse is collarless, as are so many of the new models, but it has small cuffs of the filet net.

Governor Cox Endorses Sale Of Red Cross Xmas Seals

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—The annual sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals as a means of interesting the public in health matters was endorsed by Governor James M. Cox, in a statement issued today. The governor's statement follows:

"In combatting disease and promoting good health among the citizens of Ohio, it is highly important that the public interest in health matters be kept alive and that the public and the state work along the same lines.

"Notable improvement has been made in the official health machinery of the state in the past year. It is encouraging also to note a very marked reduction in the death rates from certain preventable diseases. The number of deaths from tuberculosis for 1919 was 6570—the lowest on record.

"Progress has been made in the battle against this disease which is no doubt due in a large measure to the increased interest which the public has manifested and the continuous warfare waged against the white plague by state and voluntary health agencies.

"The sale of Christmas seals each year helps to finance the voluntary agencies engaged in this fight and to allign the public back of the state's health program. The 1920 Christmas Seal Sale beginning December 1st has my cordial endorsement."

No Gambling In Poolrooms

Gambling in soft drink places and pool rooms will not be tolerated, says Mayor J. S. Davis, of New Boston. Saturday Deputy Marshal Frank White arrested Edward Newman and Wallace McCormick for playing eight ball pool and betting 100 cents on the game at the traction pool room, Rhodes avenue and Park avenue. They were fined $5 Monday by Mayor Davis.

Mr. Crowe Sells Business

Thomas Crowe has sold his mercantile business at McColloush to C. S. Freeman, 1327 Center street, and is arranging to place it in the new owner's hands within the next few days, it was announced Monday.

Mr. Crowe, who has conducted the business there for many years, is planning to move to this city and engage in some business. Mr. Freeman conducted a grocery store on Gay street for some time.

HAD TO BE HAULED TO JAIL IN FIRE TRUCK

Isaac Lewis, of Lakeside, New Boston, was arrested Saturday at the New Boston traction waiting station on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct. He was put behind the bars of the New Boston jail for a while to soler up. He had to be hauled to the jail in the village fire truck. Monday he was fined $5 on each charge by Mayor J. S. Davis.

Cement for Iron Vessels.

Work up a mixture of equal weights of red lead and litharge with glycerine, adding more of the latter until the mass becomes homogeneous and has the consistency of a glazier's putty. This is said to be a perfectly waterproof and fireproof cement for iron vessels.

Primavera Mahogany.

Mahogany is the name of the timber of a number of absolutely unrelated trees. A government bulletin on true mahogany does not mention primavera mahogany, which is a Mexican tree belonging to the family Bignoniaceae. It is called Primavera from its early flowering, which resembles a bright yellow cloud in the top of the tree before the leaves are out. The tree is a native of Mexico and Central America. Its wood is also known as white mahogany and has been used since 1885 for cabinet and furniture making in the United States.

Old Roman Kitchen.

When the Roman empire was at its height, the kitchens of the rich boasted saucepans lined with silver, pails inlaid with arabesques, pastry molds shaped like shells and an infinite assortment of gridirons, pans, graters and tart dishes.

Free Your Blood From Poison

Take Pepto-Mangan, The Famous Blood Tonic Prescribed By Physicians for 30 Years

Sluggish blood clogged with poisons makes you lazy. You never feel like getting up in the morning. And when you do get up, you miss that feeling of refreshing rest. You feel more tired than when you went to bed. After a good night's sleep you should get up with a spring, feeling alive, renewed, refreshed.

And you would, too, if your blood were full of red corpuscles. Your complexion would look fresh, your eyes bright and clear; you would feel the warm glow of good health.

Look to your blood if you have that lazy, heavy feeling in the morning. Begin taking Pepto-Mangan—the ideal tonic. It has blood-building properties that pick you up and give you strength.

Pepto-Mangan is widely and heartily endorsed by physicians. It is effective and easy to take. It is prepared in both liquid and tablet form. Both have the same medicinal properties.

Sold at any drug store. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." Ask for it by the full name and be sure the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package.—adv.

General Court Martial For Boucher Ordered

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 29.—Trial of Lieutenant Commander C. H. Boucher by general court martial as the result of the findings of a naval court of inquiry into the conduct of the naval government at Samoa, was ordered today by Secretary Daniels. The court of inquiry, of which Rear Admiral C. F. Hughes is senior member, was ordered to Samoa after Lieutenant Commander Boucher had filed with the department serious charges against his senior commander, Warren J. Terhune, naval governor of the Island, who recently committed suicide.

Secretary Daniels said that in his opinion the action of the court under Rear Admiral Hughes had "completely exonerated" Commander Terhune of the charges made against him by Commander Boucher.

THEATRICAL

At The Sun.

A complete change of big-time vaudeville, radiant musical comedy and finest first run photoplay feature at the matinee this afternoon and two shows tonight, brings to the Sun theatre for the first half of the week what is expected to prove the most varied and delightful bill to date this year. The musical comedy will be presented by Hurley's Oh Say Girls, unquestionably one of the best organizations of its kind now touring the Gus Sun circuit. Today, Tuesday and Wednesday, the Oh Say Girls will present "The New Bell Hop," an extravaganza that is declared to sizzle and bubble over with pep, novelty, ginger and irresistible fun and comedy.

Plan Court Action Make U. S. Treasury Pay Railroad Guaranty

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 29.—Court action to compel the treasury department to make payments to the railroads under the guaranty provision of the transportation act is under consideration by the carriers.

Comptroller Warwick, of the treasury has ruled that the treasury can not make advances to the railroads on account of the six months' guarantees unless the roads filed their applications for such advances prior to September 1, the date on which the guaranty expired. It is to this ruling that the roads object. They have contended it was not possible for them to complete their figures as to the amounts due them by the government at that time.

Many millions of dollars of funds due to the carriers are held up and officials of the roads declare that the money is urgently needed for equipment and betterments necessary to improve the service. They have stated that an effort would be made to have congress at the forthcoming session amend the transportation act so that the money could be paid over.

Great Britain Will Not Bar Americans

Irish Americans in this country and add fuel to the flames. On the other hand, even with those who have no particular prejudices on the Irish question, refusal of passports might have created the impression of an unwillingness to let the outside world know the truth about happenings in Ireland. So the British government determined to make no incident out of the request for passports and to let the committee go its way.

Will Probe Unhindered

The attitude of the British officials here is probably an index of the position that will be adopted when the American commission reaches Ireland. Every opportunity will be given the commission to make its own investigation unhindered by the British government.

The members of the commission are insistent that they approach the question impartially. Major Olive P. Newman, who was in the artillery in the A. E. F. was president of the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia under President Wilson and before that was a prominent newspaper writer and investigator. His ancestor is English on both sides. Rev. Norman Thomas of New York is a Presbyterian clergyman. During the war he was prominently identified with the efforts of a group which championed the cause of conscientious objectors. He is a graduate of Princeton University and while one brother was detained in camp as a conscientious objector, another who had volunteered on the outbreak of the war saw service as a combatant officer in France.

Radical Labor Leader

James Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor, is a radical labor leader and a pernicious opponent of Samuel Gompers. His passport was revoked a year ago when he contemplated visiting England and European conditions to make a study of labor conditions and it was generally believed the action was a consequence of some of his inflammatory utterance against President Wilson and the American government. Arthur Gleason, a New York writer, who has recently spent much time in England studying the labor party, and Dean Robert Morse Lovett, head of the English department of the University of Chicago, are the other members of the commission. Dean Lovett was one of the pacifist group and was frequently criticized during the war for his attitude toward it. On the other hand, he took no part in any effort to obstruct war operations and his own son volunteered and was killed in action in France. The special committee of five was chosen with the idea that it would not be subject to criticism for religious prejudices, as none of the commission is a Catholic. The committee of five is a subcommittee of a larger committee of one hundred for the investigation of conditions in Ireland. Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the "Nation" is originator of the movement.

Columbus Tax Rate Highest Of Large Cities

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 29—Columbus' tax rate of $2.90 for each $100 valuation is the highest of any of the large cities in Ohio. This is shown by the latest tax statistics available.

Compared with Columbus' rate, other cities are shown to have the following: Dayton, $2.25; Cleveland $2.08; and Cincinnati, $2.07.

Dayton leads in the size of its school purposes levy, at being $0.7131; Cleveland is next with $0.7281; Canton $0.72; Columbus $0.681; Akron, $0.672; Toledo, $0.641; and Cleveland and Cincinnati each $0.622.

CONSTANTINE NOT TO RETURN TO GREECE UNTIL PLEBISCITE IS HELD

ATHENS, Nov. 29—It is probable that former King Constantine will not return at once to Greece, but after the plebiscite to be held on December 5, a number of deputies and ministers may go to Switzerland to notify him of the result of the vote.

Every effort is being made to win the favor of France and Great Britain, which is taken to be evidence that Greece is disposed to remain proudly.

"The benefits of the Turkish treaty," said Demetrius Gounaris, minister of war, to the Associated Press today, "should in any case come to Greece, because they were not given her because of the personal influence of Former Premier Venizelos."

Followers of the former premier as a party are officially requested by leaders of the organization not to take part in the plebiscite. They point out the plebiscite will be held in order to clear the present cabinet and also Constantine of responsibility and to make the Greek people responsible for whatever consequences the return of the former king may have.

Army Favors Constantine

Returns from the vote cast by the army in the election of November 14 show that it will give the followers of Constantine a larger majority in the chamber. It is reported that 5,000 ballots cast by the army were fraudulent. Important British and French squadrons have arrived at Piraeus from Constantinople. So far no foreign ministers have left Athens.

Prince Christopher, brother of Constantine, has stated in an interview that the defeat of M. Venizelo was due to the fact that because of his foreign policy the Greeks felt they were reduced to the position of a colony. He declares it is false that Constantine was pro-German and asserts he was merely pro-Greek. "It would be folly," he adds, "to be pro-German today with Germany so low. Greece wants only to live in peace. This is Constantine's program."

To Remain In Lucerne

LUCERNE, SWITZERLAND, Nov. 28—Reports that Former King Constantine of Greece has already left for Athens are officially denied here. He has no intention of leaving Lucerne before the Greek plebiscite next Sunday.

Present arrangements, which are tentative, are that Constantine, his family and suite will leave on a special train for Brindisi a week from next Tuesday or Wednesday, and it is intended to embark there on a Greek warship. Should a deputation be sent here from Athens to announce to Constantine the result of the plebiscite, however, it is probable he will await it before leaving.

2 Women Hurt When Auto Crashes Into Their Buggy

HUNTINGTON, Nov. 29—Fleeing after he had completely demolished their buggy and crippled their horse, an unidentified automobile speeder left Miss Norman Thompson and Mrs. Mattie Potter, both of Ceredo, by the roadside, cut, bruised and crying for assistance. Both were taken to Guthrie hospital where their injuries received attention. Hospital authorities stated last night that the two victims would be able o be removed to their homes today.

The accident occurred at Chapman's Crossing, on Adams avenue.

BIGELOW RECREATIONAL NOTES

The committee of twelve on Religious Education and Recreation will meet at the church office Tuesday night at seven o'clock. Mr. Libby will give a brief summary of the Sunday school analysis as revealed by the class census sheets.

Regarding the recreational work reports must be definitely formulated for presentation to the Official Board on Wednesday evening.

Boy Scout Troop No. 12 meets tonight. The Bigelow Boys' Club Tuesday afternoon right after school. Any boy who does not yet know his class and score is asked to see the leader at the office Wednesday afternoon. Regular meeting of th Scouts Thursday night at teh Church.

Former members of the Wesley Hall Home Missionary Society who were not at the meeting today are asked to inform themselves by asking others of the plans made.

Tired and Run-Down Business Men

Use Lenitone, the Scientific Energy-Builder

Fatigue creates poisons in the blood. Blood so poisoned means a dulled brain and a body clogged with wastes. No man can afford to be hampered by such inefficient mental and physical machinery.

If you are tired and run down, make up your mind to remedy the condition immediately. You will profit by it. But don't take medicine. Take Lenitone, The Corrective Food. It contains every chemical element necessary for perfect nutrition, and is therefore an energy-builder. Is delicious to the taste, too. Is taken with milk or water in beverage form.

Buy Lenitone from your druggist. Prescribed uses outlined in the pamphlet enclosed with every package. Excellent for infants, undernourished children, and convalescents. The Lenitone Laboratories Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

800 Soldiers Are Taken To West Virginia Coal Fields

Eight hundred soldiers from Camp Sherman passed through Portsmouth early Sunday morning on their way to W. Va., where they will go on duty in the coal regions near Williamson. The las train to reach here left Portsmouth at 4 a. m. Nearly all available equipment the N. & W. had on this division was brought into play as the soldiers had to be moved quickly as disorder has again broken out in the strike zones in West Virginia.

Gave Police Wrong Name

When a West Side young man was arrested by the police Saturday night at Second and Market streets on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct, registered at police headquarters under the name of Berat George, when as a matter of fact his real name was Tom Evans, it developed Sunday when George complained that his name had been used by the offender.

George lives on the West Side and has never been arrested.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Makes Food Taste Good

Creates an appetite, aids digestion, purifies the blood, and thus relieves scrofula, catarrh, the pains and aches of rheumatism and gives strength to the whole system.

Nearly 50 years' phenomenal sales tell the story of the great merit and success of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is just the medicine you need now. Hood's Pills help—fine cathartic.

Raised Row In East End; Trio Is Arrested

James McCaw, 21, machinist, Silas Brooks, 19, woodworker, and Harry Glenn, 22, brickworker, were the names given by a trio arrested by the police Sunday night at Sixth and Broadway and lodged in the city jail on charges of disorderly conduct and intoxication.

The trio had tanked up on "mountain dew" and were taken into custody after complaints had reached the police of their noisy conduct. Glenn was later released on bond for his appearance for trial in Municipal court.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH NEWS

The Loyal Men will meet in regular weekly session at the church on Tuesday evening of this week, and a fine time is anticipated. Previous to the meeting, the men's chorus will hold a thirty minute session and will be coached by Professor Joseph Kershaw, who has agreed to revamp the chorus and arrange the voices. Every member of the chorus is asked to be present.

Section Four will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Oscar Robinson, 1730 Fifth street.

The Woman's Union will meet in regular monthly session at the church on Thursday afternoon of this week, with Section Two in charge of both social and devotional exercises.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday with the Loyal Workers' Class in charge.

Choir practice on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Class 3, Loyal Women will meet at the home of Mrs. Drennen, 1404 Third street, Thursday evening, December 3. Election of officers.

The Loyal Sons' class will hold an important meeting at the church on Tuesday evening, November 30. Election of officers for 1921.

Section Two will meet Tuesday afternoon at the church. All members are urged to be present.

I. C. Cahill, secretary of the Ohio Christian Missionary Society, occupied the pulpit on Sunday evening, and was greeted by a splendid crowd. He delivered a very forceful sermon, as he always does.

Always a Sunny Side.

The toughest thing in all this world has its sunny side. There is joy in a stubbed toe when it stops aching. It feels so good!

PLUTO WATER

GUN VICTIM BETTER

Paul Brisker, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brisker, of Candy Run, back of Lucasville, who was accidentally shot through the hips and abdomen Thanksgiving Day, while rabbit hunting, is holding his own in Hempstead hospital. He is getting along as well as could be expected.

His mother remains at his bedside throughout the day and night, leaving her boy's bedside only long enough to go to a relative's home for her meals.

The boy has a number of friends and many have called to see him.

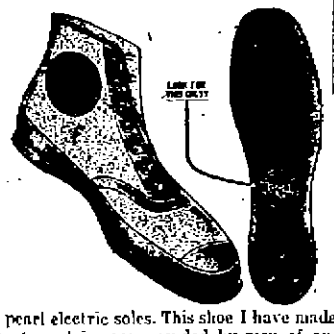
All Ye Volley Ball, Basket Ball And Bowlers



I have just received another lot of "dim" bals and bowling shoes. One made of the best grade of white canvas, black leather trimmed and first quality of red rubber suction soles (like cut) — the other of black dongola with pearl electric soles. This shoe I have made especially for all indoor sports and is recommended by men of authority. Why take a chance of slipping and injuring yourself. Be sure on your feet and help your team win. Ordinary street shoes are not correct for sports.

ALL EYE STRAIN SHOULD GET ATTENTION.

There is no such thing as eye strain that is slight enough to be neglected. Any error of refraction that is important enough to produce eye strain is important enough to demand correction. And here is another point—nothing is gained by putting it off from time to time. In cases of eye strain DO IT NOW should be the practice. We correct all degrees of eye strain with glasses.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—A steadier tone prevailed at the opening of today's stock market, last Saturday's rally in oils, shippings and steels, making further progress. American Linseed was the strongest feature, rising 1 3-4 points. Atlantic Gulf gained 1 point and Bethlehem Steel, Mexican Petroleum, Houston Oil, Southern Pacific and Norfolk & Western advanced large fractions. Within the first half hour, however, a reaction set in wiping out initial gains in oils and shippings. Heaviness developed in Virginia-Carolina Chemical, American International, Pan-American and various specialties. Foreign exchange was irregular, but the money market indicated a continuance of last week's easier conditions.

Alternate rallies and declines occurred during the morning, but trading lacked the feverish activity of last week's sessions. Additions to losses of the first hour included Crucible Steel, Chino-Copper, Chicago Pneumatic Tool and some of the food specialties at reactions of 1½ to 4 points. Oils, equipments and tobaccos offset this movement at gains of 1 to almost 3 points, but yielded to renewed pressure against shippings. Mercantile Marine preferred and United Fruit fell 1 to 2½ points, with Atlantic Gulf and American International. Rails were the only shares to pursue an independent course, Reading, Norfolk and Western and Southern Pacific rising 1 to 1½ points. Call money opened at 6 percent.

The stock market today was dull but more orderly than at any recent period. Prices were partly stabilized by short covering in representative rails. Sales approximated 550,000 shares.

The closing was irregular.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Fresh strength manifested itself today in the wheat market. Signs of further buying for European interests had much to do with the upward tendency of prices. Besides, offerings were small, and the impending close of navigation from Canadian ports attracted some attention. Opening quotations, which varied from 1 to 4 cents higher, with Dec. 1.58 to 1.59½ and March 1.52½ to 1.54, were followed by slight additional gains, and then something of a reaction.

The close was unsettled, ¾ to 1¾ cents net higher, with Dec. 1.56½ to 1.56¾ and March 1.52½ to 1.53.

Enhancement of corn values accompanied the rise of the wheat market. After opening, ⅝c to 1⅜c up, including May at 73½ to 74, corn continued to harden.

Oats reflected the upturn of other grain, starting unchanged to ¾c @ ⅞c higher, May 48⅝ to 49⅛, and showing addition firmness later.

Provisions were lifted by the action of hogs and cereals.

The close was ½ to 4½c net higher, with May 73½ to 73⅝.

ARREST CLEARS UP MYSTERY

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 29—The arrest of a young man on the charge of having murderously assaulted his sweetheart clears up the mystery of the bloody trail and other evidence of what the police believed might have been a murder, discovered last Saturday in East Baltimore.

Annie Ruszkavitz, 19 years old, today accused the man of murderous assault and another man is held as an accomplice.

Among the effects of the young woman who was murdered was a card from The W. L. Rehert Clothing company of this city.

Entertains President-Elect

Brigadier General Chase Kennedy, of this city, commander of troops in the Panama Canal Zone, had the honor of entertaining Senator Warren G. Harding at luncheon Sunday, according to press reports from the Canal Zone which the president-elect is touring.

General Kennedy has numerous relatives in this city.

Get Threatening Letters

LONDONDERRY, IRELAND, Nov. 29—A number of military officers here have received typewritten documents threatening them with a fate similar to that suffered by the British officers murdered in Dublin, unless they leave Ireland. The military forces are taking precautions to protect the threatened officers.

Suffered Fractured Rib

"Shorty" Davies, star on the Ironton Tanks eleven, suffered a fractured rib in Sunday's game with the N. & W. Smoke House eleven. Irwins injured when Davies was tackled hard in the center of the field by Davis, one of the local ends. The tackle was so hard that the football was knocked from Davies' hands and it was recovered by Portsmouth. The rib gave Davies some pain during the game, but he refused to quit. He consulted a physician Sunday night and then learned the rib had been cracked.

Many Paying Water Rent

Collection of water rent is on in full swing at the city treasurer's office, which was crowded with patrons Monday when the last lap of the collection was entered upon as the time limit has been set for Wednesday, December 3.

After the books are closed, delinquent patrons must pay the added penalty of ten per cent and Collector A. J. Fuller urges all persons who have not already paid up to do so before Wednesday evening so as to escape the penalty.

Raid Staged In New Boston

"You must keep your place closed every Sunday, and if brought in again your place will be closed for good," said Mayor J. S. Davis, of New Boston, Monday, in imposing fine and sentence on Taylor Henson, Gallia street soft drink and pool room proprietor in New Boston, who was caught in a gambling raid Saturday night.

Marshal Frank Hall and Deputy Ray Buckley acting on a tip went into Henson's basement, where they claim they found Henson, Louis Armstrong, Oscar Meisor, Delbert Hale, and James Cole engaged in a poker game. Hall claims the men turned the light out when he reached the bottom of the stairs. Hall and Buckley used their flashlights and arrested the men on charges of gambling, an additional charge of running a place for gambling being placed against Henson.

In police court Monday Cole was released, as the testimony showed he had just reached the basement a few seconds before the raid. Armstrong, Meisor, Hale and Henson were fined $10 and costs, while Henson had the closing sentence also placed against him. He just recently purchased the business from Joe Hladik.

This is the first soft drink place in New Boston to be closed on Sunday by Mayor Davis.

Officer Blamed For Unrest On The Island Of Samoa

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 29.—The recent unrest among the natives in the naval controlled island of Samoa in the Pacific was influenced by Commander Kull, Lieutenant Commander Boucher and an American citizen named Greene, said a dispatch received today by the navy department from Captain Waldo Evans, the new governor of the island, and head of a court appointed to inquire into the trouble at Samoa.

Captain Evans recommended that Lieutenant Commander Boucher be court martialed on charges of "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman; conduct prejudiced to good order and discipline; drunk on duty; disrespect to the president, secretary of navy and superior officer."

Captain Evans said that Greene would be deported as "undesirable", but no recommendation was made as to Commander Kull. The captain added that there was no evidence of "legal, financial or political irregularity" in the administration of the affairs of the island.

Robinson Is Dismissed

Judge Small in Municipal court Monday dismissed "Yank" Robinson, North End cripple, charged with gun toting. When arrested recently on a charge of intoxication he had a pistol in his possession. He explained that the weapon belonged to Glenn Hurley and that he had simply brought the gun in from camp for the latter. His statement was supported by the evidence of Mr. Hurley and resulted in a dismissal of the complaint with a warning to the defendant to be more careful in the future, the court reminding Robinson of the seriousness of the offense and telling his that he escaped a stiff fine by the circumstances which developed.

Pickpockets To Be Re-Arrested As Fast As They're Released

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Every pickpocket in Chicago is to be arrested every twenty-four hours, or rearrested, as fast as he obtains his liberty, under orders issued today by Charles Fitzmorris, general superintendent of police. The new plan is the chief's latest step in a drive against known criminals.

Each time a pickpocket is arrested on suspicion the station making the arrest, according to Chief Fitzmorris' order, will follow the case through the courts and if the prisoner is freed he will be rearrested within one day.

NEW PASTOR IS WARMLY GREETED

Rev. H. A. Kirk, new pastor of Wheelersburg M. E. church, who recently came north from Texas, where he was chaplain in the U. S. Army, and where he carried on community work as a minister, is being greeted by large congregations. Sunday evening the church was packed to the doors. At each service since Rev. Kirk took charge the attendance has been increasing and Monday one of the members said that if things kept growing it would be necessary to build a large church. Rev. Kirk is a young man and has a way of delivering his sermons that everyone present want to hear him again. It is said that young men who never did attend service before are now regular attendants and that women who could not get their husbands to go to church have them going every Sunday to hear Rev. Kirk.

Many residents of Scioto ville are attending each service at the Wheelersburg church.

Rev. Kirk has only had charge a couple of weeks and has already made himself known to all in the community.

SPEEDERS FINED

Traffic Officer Fred White of New Boston caught two speeders in his channel Sunday. D. J. Fletcher was arrested for driving his car 32 miles an hour on Rhodes avenue and John Pinkard was arrested for traveling at a speed of 48 miles an hour on the same thoroughfare. Fletcher was fined $5 Monday by Mayor Davis. Pinkard posted a $5 bond for his appearance before Mayor Davis Monday evening.

Dismissed in Court

Charles Hudson and James Stone, young men arrested Sunday night for raising a disturbance at Shepherd's restaurant, were convicted of a charge of disorderly conduct in Municipal court Monday and Judge Small fined them $5 and costs each but suspended the fine when the prisoners indicated a desire to leave town.

Hudson claimed to have been connected with a circus until recently and Stone said his home was at Vanceburg.

Both declared they had been in town but a few days and said they came here to join the army.

MISS DOLLY WISE

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise care The Daily Times Portsmouth, Ohio.

Miss Dolly Wise—I have been a reader of your columns for over 3 years and I feel as though you can give me some encouragement. I have been married over 4 years and I have a good home and a good husband. But Dolly my health is bad and I am so nervous that I can't enjoy life. At times I feel happy and then when I feel so bad I take the blues and have to cry. Now Dolly I have no children and feel lonely and sometimes think it would be company for me to take some one's baby to raise. I think I could be a good mother to one as I am a lover of children. Would you advise me to do so? WORRIED WOMAN.

No work of greater pleasure or higher obligation or of greater honor, or of richer reward could be given you, than that of adopting and rearing a motherless child, but I do not think it would be advisable for you to adopt one until you begin to feel better. It takes a lot of patience to raise one's child, and would require extraordinary patience to raise some one else's child. If you are sick and nervous, the chances are the child would be neglected or mistreated—perhaps not intentionally, but because you were unable to give the baby a mother's care. If I were you I would place myself under the care of a good physician until my health improved, then if you are still in the notion of adopting a baby, adopt one or two as many as you can afford to raise. If there is anything sweeter than children it is more children.

Dear Miss Wise—Don't you think while the city is clamping on the lid and trying to make our town a cleaner place to live in, that it would be a good idea to investigate conditions in some of the cheap rooming and boarding houses also private houses as well—why there are places where men go in and out as bold as daylight burglars. And spend more time with other women than they do at their own homes, and these men are supposed to be roomers or boarders, or a relative, when we all know who they are. Now Miss Wise when you can't help but see such sights why it is disgusting as well as unlawful and should be stopped, if the police would get busy they would soon get an eye full.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

The police or no one else has a right to enter a private home unless they have authority to do so. If you are positive your neighbors are doing wrong why don't you file charges against them. That is the only way the law can reach them. The men you see going in and out may be collectors, solicitors or delivery men.

Dear Dolly—Would you tell me who is the author of "Her Own Career" and also if he is writing for any more books and also where can I send some short stories I am writing. I would like to have them published.

LITTLE PEGGY.

Phyllis Phillipps is the author of "Her Own Career." She is also the author of "The Diary of An Engaged Girl" which recently appeared in the Times. I don't think any magazine will accept your stories, until, you learn how to write and spell. You had six misspelled words in your short letter.

Dear Dolly—I thought I would write to you for the first time. Dolly I am going with a nice fellow and he wants to get me an Xmas present and I also want to get him a Christmas present too. What would be suitable for him. Would a set of cuff buttons or a shaving set be all right.

WANT TO KNOW.

Either present would be all right if you know he would like to have it or appreciate it.

Dear Dolly—Please solve this relationship riddle. "My brother married my brothers neice." Now, of what relation am I to my father and mother by marriage? FAY.

Your brother's niece would be your sister-in-law, by marriage, and you would still be the daughter of your parents.

MRS. B. K.—If you will send me your name and address I think I can find a place for you.

Dear Miss Wise—I want your advice. Do you not think the Chamber of Commerce ought to appoint some one to look into the housing of those that have to rent? People having children that haven't a large income are compelled to live in the terrible old rat holes, window panes out and oh such an awful rent. I know of a family living in the West End paying $28 a month for a place not fit to live in and four small children and the poor mother sick. The father works hard but only gets a small salary, his employer not thinking of his condition at home. ONE WHO KNOWS.

If landlords haven't any conscience to make them do right, I think the law or the Chamber of Commerce should do something.

BILLY WHISKERS

By Frances Trego Montgomery

This is what Billy said to the angry monkeys:

"Colonel Mandrill, Titlebat Titmouse and all the rest of you, I was never so glad in my life to see anyone as I am you now. I observe that you have all escaped that frightful wreck unhurt. After the collision, I was so shaken to pieces and frightened, while the din was so ear splitting, without thinking a thing what I was doing I started and ran. As you have seen, I stopped just as soon as I came to a safe place. Before now, if you hadn't come, I should be on my way back to hunt for you."

"I hope I may be forgiven for that fate," added Billy under his breath.

The older monkeys whispered together for a short time, evidently trying to decide whether or not this plausible story was to be believed. Although it was manifest that there was a difference of opinion, the majority were in favor of accepting the explanation as true and this decision was quickly made known to Billy's great relief.

"I've just been thinking," then said Billy, "that we will never have a better chance to escape than now. We are not a great many miles from my dear old home at Cloverleaf Farm which I have told you about so often. I think I can find the way. If we are agreed to the plan, I will try and lead you there."

This proposal led to another consultation and while not very enthusiastic about it the monkeys shortly said they would go.

As no time was to be lost, they started north at once, keeping in the shadow of the woods.

"A nice time I'll have introducing this crumby looking crowd to my friends at Cloverleaf," mused Billy. "I wonder what the Coon will say," and the very thought made him laugh.

By this time it was about three o'clock in the morning. There were two good hours before daylight and the time was improved by traveling as fast as possible. Billy and his party kept within the woods whenever possible, the monkeys, for the most part, staying in the trees, leaping from one to another which is the way they get about in their native forests. They can travel much faster that way than on the ground. They all enjoyed the freedom they were experiencing for the first time in years very greatly and were in the best of spirits.

The racket their chattering made was so loud that Billy had to caution them about it for fear they might attract attention, and this they did not want to do.

It was easy to imagine what was sure to happen if anyone discovered that there was a drove of monkeys loose in the woods. The whole community would be quickly aroused and a big hunt started. By all means discovery of this sort must be avoided.

As soon as signs of daylight began to appear in the east, Billy looked about for a good place to hide during the day where they would all be safe and could rest in peace and quiet until night came again when the journey could be resumed.

(Tomorrow will tell of further adventures of Billy and the monkeys.

Her Own Career

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

THE NEW GWENDA.

"Relax your entire body—head, too, slightly drooping. And if you will narrow those eyes of yours for me, Gwendutsckka, it will make the pose perfect," said Fedya Stepanova, as he stood off to study Gwenda from a distance.

"Am I quite all that you hoped I would be?" questioned the girl from her model-stand. "Hair, costume and whole appearance, quite all right for 'Orientale'?"

"Perfect in every littlest detail! wonderful, beyond words," Fedya reassured Gwenda, coming near to where she stood and arranging a fold of her clinging, silk gown, adjusting the curve of a finger here and a strand of hair there.

You are Orientale, completely, Captivatingly so, my dear young lady. And I hope to do something splendid with this new painting of mine. Now, your eyes here, in front, on me, anywhere, as I get the full benefit of their glance for my brush and paint."

"I can't tell you how happy it makes me feel to be dressed in this gorgeous costume," said Gwenda, with a happy little sigh, as she spoiled the pose for the fraction of a second to bend and stroke the toe of her crimson satin, curley-cued slipper. Then straightened herself again as she caught sight of the eager look in Fedya Stepanova's eyes. It seemed to her that he had become a different person from the tall, self-contained man of the world. She knew that Fedya had completely disappeared, leaving this shining, ecstatic artist in his place. He seemed scarcely to know that it was she who stood before him. So hard was he staring through half-closed eyes at his usual sketching busily in the air for all he was worth, as he stared.

"That hair, that midnight mystery of yours, Gwendutsckka, swing it quickly over to your left shoulder. Let it hang long and startling from shoulder to the floor. There that's it, exactly. Ah, but it is beautiful, my child, most beautiful."

Gwenda made an exotic picture in her oriental costume, composed of diaphanous silks, that clung tenderly to her lithe, young body, now revealing, now suggesting the curves that lay beneath its vari-colored folds—and bearing her slender, lovely arms bare, save for an emerald bracelet that clasped the right one just above the elbow in true oriental fashion. She was seated on a mass of gold and many-hued cushions, with a back ground of cherry blossoms which threw into bold relief the shades of her eyes and skin, and her blue-black hair as well as enhanced the glories of her silken robes a hundredfold. Turk-fashion she sat upon the cushions, with her head slightly drooping, as from with the weight of its ebony treasure. And her two sombre eyes gazing into space, as Fedya had directed.

"Ready," she called to him sharply, stung to some keen joy of this entirely new experience. This entrance into the world of make-believe and color. "I want you to do something wonderful, Fedya, for I feel like someone who never was, and I do want to see Lux that person will look on canvas. Make me very beautiful—make me oriental, for I feel so. Yes, this is different Gwenda you see before you."

On the Wednesday evening before Christmas the three Christian Endeavor Societies of the Second Presbyterian church will sing the story of the life of Christ in gospel songs.

The Junior, Intermediate and Senior societies will each have separate parts in the program and the three societies will form a chorus of nearly 200 young people which will do some splendid choral work.

The accompaniments will be by Miss Margaret Barber of the Intermediate Society and Miss Lillian Freund of the Senior Society.

The story of the Master's life is divided into eight parts, each of which is supported by familiar gospel songs which appeal to the hearts of Christian folks. The division follows: 1, The Birth of Christ; 2, His Childhood; 3, His Baptism and Temptation; 4, His Ministry; 5, His Suffering and Death; 6, His Resurrection and Coronation; 7, The Call To Service; 8, The Christian Endeavor Answer.

After a visit to Portsmouth friends, Mrs. Lexie Crabtree and daughter, Lexie, have returned to her home in Columbus.

A family dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Will of Minford was given in honor of Mrs. Will's brother, Charles Reynard, of Cadiz, whom she had not seen for twenty-seven years. The guests for the occasion were Emil, Frank Reynard and Albert Will, Misses Margaret and Gertrude Will, Emma Seidel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bihl, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sherman, Alfred Raynard and sons, Lawrence and Wilford, Henry Sherman and George Eliasler.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McFarland of Hutchins street have returned home from a brief visit in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. John Snyder of Second street had for their guests recently, at dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bell and son Billie, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Simpson, Miss Lou Burke, Mrs. Frank McColm, Misses Jeanette, Minnie and Nell Simpson and Master Clifford Simpson.

After a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bayless of Lisbon street, Mrs. Jennie Duncan has returned to her home in Kenova.

Rheumatism Comes From Tiny Pain Germs

First of all, get it firmly fixed in your mind that all the liniments in the world have no effect whatever on Rheumatism.

Medical scientists differ as to the causes of every form of rheumatism, but agree that when caused by a tiny disease germ, the only effective method of treatment is to attack the disease at its source, and cleanse the blood of its cause.

A very common form of Rheumatism is caused by millions of tiny disease germs which infest the blood. The one and only sensible treatment, therefore, is one which cleanses the blood of these germs, and rids them entirely out of the circulation.

This is why S. S. S., the greatest known blood purifier is so successful in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is a powerful cleanser of the blood and will remove the disease germs that cause your rheumatism, affording relief that is genuine.

S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. Free literature and medical advice can be had by writing to Chief Medical Adviser, 506 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—adv.

Tanks Live Up To Name; Bowl Over Smoke House, 14-0

With weather conditions ideal and the gridiron slightly soggy, close to 4,000 fans saw the Ironton Tanks and the local N. & W.-Smoke House football teams battle in Beechwood Park at Ironton Sunday afternoon when the Irontonians defeated the local eleven 14 to 0, in the closing contest of the season.

The ultimate defeat of the local eleven came in the first three minutes of play when Davies, former Ohio State quarterback and the football pride of Ironton, called for a line shift, the old Army play, and receiving the oval started out on a wide right end run from the 32 yard line, which ended when he crossed the Portsmouth goal line for the first score. Progler promptly kicked goal, bringing the score to 7 points. On his own step to the goal line, the crack quarterback marched directly through the entire Portsmouth eleven, first side-stepping one gridder and then shaking off another until his uncanny maneuvers brought him to the 8 yard line, when he sprinted over the last white line.

The first touchdown coming so early in the game, brought grim desperation to the local warriors, who hoping that Davies might not get loose on just such a run as occurred, were shocked to the extent that the eleven could not get its bearings. To Davies, the inspiration and nucleus of the up river team, goes the credit of the victory.

The second touchdown came 4 minutes before the end of the game when Progler from the 20 yard line executed another right end run. Skirting the right flank man he darted through a broken field, following closely his interference which carried him beyond the goal line. He kicked goal doubling the score.

Football fans from Huntington, Ashland and other nearby towns flocked to Beechwood Park to witness the classic, while Portsmouth was well represented with about a thousand local people lining one side of the field. A special N. & W. train transported 600 enthusiasts from this city, while the Portsmouth-Ironton highway represented a steady stream of automobiles enroute to the biggest game of the season in Southern Ohio.

The crowd though lent on backing the teams with vociferous cheering was orderly and well handled by the squad of police. The officials, headed by Don Hamilton, of Columbus, noted football and basketball referee, rendered decisions over which not a murmur of disapproval was heard from any quarter.

Although the Tanks defeated the N. & W.-Smoke House team by two touchdowns, they did not make manifest on the gridiron Sunday any superiority of strength in playing; but the indication is that they displayed a brand of team work and pep which was instilled in them by the presence and generalship of Shorty Davies, who carried the oval in a majority of the plays. Seemingly the Portsmouth gridders did not have the stuff in them to execute their plays with the rapidity and deftness of the Irontonians when they got close to the opposing goal. Coming within 20 yards of the Ironton goal several times, they were unable to break the Tanks' line for any material gains, nor were they able to complete forward passes. The line wavered in several instances and the backfield seemed slow at times, probably due to the presence of Davies who was awe-inspiring as the superman. So far as straight football is concerned, however, the N. & W.-Smoke House eleven backed the line with success more often than did the Tanks, but they were somehow or other unable to do the "Davies stunt" when within 20 yards of the goal. This may be explained the victory of the Tanks Sunday.

The game by plays:

Portsmouth won the toss and elected to receive, defending the north goal. Moore kicked off. Davis for Portsmouth receiving and carrying the ball back 15 yards. A line buck was unsuccessful. Davis fumbled, Padan fumbled, Burris recovering. Davis received a high pass from center and was forced back to the 12 yard line by Crawford. Davis was tackled on the 9 yard line by Barron, who broke through the Portsmouth line. Hankes was called back to punt and booted the oval to the 40 yard line. Line bucks gained 8 yards. On a line shift to the left, Davies drew the Portsmouth team to the left and skirting right end, he went through a broken field, crossing the last line for a touchdown. Time: 3 minutes. Progler kicked goal. Score 7 to 0, favor Ironton.

Moore kicked off, the ball being received on the 10 yard line. Padan bucked the line for 2 yards. Davis side 5 yards around left end. Davis bucked the line for a yard. Receiving on a 9 yard pass from Davis, Padan was tripped in his tracks by Davies. Portsmouth fumbled on the 25 yard line. Davies was tackled one yard behind the scrimmage line. Several line bucks were unsuccessful. Progler punted to the 50 yard line. On second down Quinn made 2 yards through center. A poor pass from center resulted in a fumble; and Hankes was forced to punt, the oval going 25 yards. A series of shifts and then Moore skirted right end for 2 yards. Poole failed to gain on a line buck. For Lolding, Ironton was penalized 10 yards, bringing the line of scrimmage to the Portsmouth 2 yard line. Davies made 2 yards "through" left tackle. Third down, 17 yards to gain when Progler punted. Montgomery recovered and carried the ball back to the 25 yard line. Padan gained 2 yards through left tackle. Davis gained 4 yards through center; and repeated with a 2 yard gain, making first down. Quinn rammed center for 3 yards. The line on the offensive was making holes for the backfield men. Time-out was taken for Schuchleiter. On fourth down and 5 yards to gain, Hankes was called back and punted the pigskin 30 yards, Davies receiving, and was downed on the 18 yard line. Poole failed to gain on a line buck. Moore punted, Montgomery receiving and was downed in his tracks. Davis recovered a fumble. A line buck netted one yard. Montgomery was taken back 5 yards when tackled by Davies. Hankes punted, Davies receiving and carrying the ball back 4 yards to the Ironton 35 yard line. The quarter ended. Chinn and Rehman were substituted for Davis and Hester.

Progler gained 2 1-2 yards through the line; but was stopped on the next short right end run. Davies' forward pass was grounded. Progler punted to Montgomery who received on the 35 yard line and carried the oval back 5 yards. A 10 yard penalty was inflicted for holding. Pearce received a forward pass and sprinted 25 yards before being tackled in mid field. Another 15 yard penalty was inflicted. Two forward passes were incomplete and then Montgomery heaved a forward pass directly into the hands of Moore on the 33 yard line. He gained 6 yards. Time out was taken for Moore. Ironton fumbled, Chinn recovering. Chinn made 10 yards on a line buck. Portsmouth's ball on Ironton 15 yd. line. Padan bucked line for a yard. Chinn lost a yard. Moore grounded a pass. Ironton had the ball on 20 yard line. Davies failed to gain on a short right end run. Hopkins was substituted for Montgomery. Progler gained 2 yards through right tackle. Pearce grounded Davies' pass. Moore punted to the 40 yard line. Shoemaker took the place of Padan. Shoemaker gained 3 yards through the line. A pass was incomplete. Shoemaker on a wide right end run was tackled, both gridders falling behind the ropes into the the crowd. On the next play Hopkins skirted left end for 5 yards. Hankes was hilited to right tackle and Johnson came in at right end. A pass was grounded. Padan made first down. On the 27 yard line, 2nd down, 5 1-2 yards to gain another forward pass was incomplete, and Ironton took the ball on downs. Heald took the place of Mayne at center. Progler made 3 yards through right tackle. A short right end run netted 5 yards for Moore. Progler made first down. Shoemaker intercepted a forward pass on the Portsmouth 40 yard line and was downed just as the half ended.

Davis for Portsmouth kicked off, Progler recovering on the 20 yard line and shaking off two aggressors ran to the 48 yard line before being tackled by Burris. Davies bucked the line for a 10 yard gain. Poole made 3 yards off right tackle. Progler failed to gain but followed with a yard gain through right tackle. Ironton was penalized 10 yards for holding. Davies' pass was grounded. On the 10 yard line Davis received Progler's punt and carried the ball back 8 yards. Quinn was tackled on the line of scrimmage by Schuchleiter. Quinn skirted right end for a yard. Davis bucked the line for 4 yards, making first down. From the Ironton 23 yard line, Padan went through right tackle for a 10 yard gain. Adams bucked the line for a yard. A five yard penalty for off-side was meted out to Portsmouth. Hankes was called back to punt the oval going to the 40 yard line. Progler and Moore gained 6 yards through tackles. Davies made first down. Ironton received a 15 yard penalty for holding. On a wide left end run, Davies gained 11 yards. Progler gained 5 yards on an end run. Davies followed with a 3 yard gain off right end, being tackled by Hankes as he was headed for the open field and but 35 yards from the goal. Portsmouth received the ball on an Ironton fumble. Off side cost Portsmouth 5 yards, after Johnson had cleared the scrimmage line and was close to the goal within reach of a touchdown only to be called back. On a short left end run, Padan gained 8 yards. Hankes punted. Davies receiving and going 25 yards to the 45 yard line. He fell in the crowd after being tackled by Johnson.

Taylor took the place of Burris. Poole gained 5 yards through right tackle. Davies made a yard. Baker took the place of Progler and on the next play made two yards. Johnson blocked Davies' pass. Time out was taken for Davies. Adams intercepted Davies pass on the 30 yard line and was downed. Quinn netted 5 yards on a short end run, Padan following with a 4 yard gain around left end. Davis gained three and one-half yards on short left end run. Davis lost four yards when tackle behind the line of scrimmage. The third quarter ended with Portsmouth having the ball on the 18 yard line and 2nd down. Line bucks and end runs brought the oval to the 38 yard line in the next three minutes. Quinn received Davis' pass and gained 8 yards. Two more passes were incomplete. Brooks stopped Davis with a yard gain. Another pass was incomplete. A line shift and forward pass resulted in a fumble. Moore intercepted a 20 yard pass, and was downed with no additional gain. Three yards were gained through the line. With six minutes yet to play Ironton was penalized 5 yards for off-side. Progler punuted, the ball going into the crowd. Davis bucked the line for 9 yards; Padan gaining 2 yards through line; Chinn 9 yards through tackle. Ironton took the ball on Portsmouth's fumble. Davies netted 4 yards on short right end run. Time out taken when Davies changed sweaters. Davies went 10 yards on left end run to 22 yard line with four minutes yet to play. Pearce went in for Johnson. Progler skirted right end and ran through broken field for 22 yards, crossing the line for the second touchdown. He promptly kicked goal, making the score 14 points.

Davis received on the kick-off and carried the oval back 13 yards. Time out was taken for Davis who left the field with a broken nose. Hopkins took his place. Padan fumbled and was taken back 5 yards. On the 21st yard line, Chinn punted, Davies receiving and carrying the ball back 10 yards to the 40 yard line. A short left end run netted the Tanks 3 yards. Davies followed with 2 yard gain. Progler nabbed a 5 yard forward pass off right end. Poole brought down another 10 yard pass and was downed when the game ended. Score 14 to 0—Tanks.

NOTES OF THE GAME

W. H. Lynn formerly in charge of the express company here who is a resident of Ironton was one of the several thousand spectators on the sidelines at the big game between the Tanks and Portsmouth and for a short while was undecided as to which team he should support. After Ironton made her first touchdown, Lynn selected Ironton as the team he had better cheer for and lost no time in making himself heard.

The Smoke House team has no alibis to offer for defeat in Ironton, Sunday. They were outplayed and that is the answer for the Tank victory.

It was a case of too much Davies. On the very first play after Ironton secured the ball on downs Davies pulled an ancient play and converted it into a touchdown from the 35 yard line. It was a fake criss-cross and Portsmouth fell for it. Davies started around the left end, halted and then darted around the right end and no one was near enough to tackle him and he raced to his goal line.

This fortunate play took the heart out of the Smoke House boys, but they kept plugging away and gained more yardage than Ironton in spite of their defeat.

Portsmouth's line was repeatedly offside and penalties were costly. The line played high and loose and the backfield men of the Tanks tore through it for surprisingly large gains.

Umpire Don Hamilton and Referee Ray Eichenlaub of Columbus handled the game and their decisions were undisputed. They saw every play and kept things moving. The only drawback to the game from a Portsmouth viewpoint was that Ironton won. But there are no sore spots so three cheers for the game, resourceful and hard playing Tanks.

The Ironton players showed wonderful endurance. Only one substitute was brought into play and then only for a short time. Ironton's second string men may not be so shifty, but what does that matter when 11 men can play the whole game and a gruelling uncut-war game at that.

Portsmouth made frequent substitutions.

The rivalry was so intense that the game will be an annual affair in each city, in fact negotiations are already on for the Tanks to play in Millbrook next fall and the Smoke House team to play a return engagement in Ironton. The team should divide the receipts or on a 60-40 basis.

The receipts reached 2,600 and there were easily 3,000 fans in Beechwood Park when play started. The winner got all the kale so the Tanks will have lots of a jingle money this winter. The Smokehouse team got $50 for expenses and the winners paid the officials $50 per head. It was a great day all round for Cannonville.

There were fully 600 Portsmouth fans at yesterday's battle royal. Four hundred boarded the N. & W. special, 100 made the trip in machines and 100 on the noon train yesterday. The players made their headquarters at the Marling Hotel. The rooters had little chance to root, but when they did, oh boy, but they would cut loose. The crowd had a good time and was just as jubilant coming home on the special as it was going up. The trip to Ironton was made in 37 minutes, the train leaving here 20 minutes late.

Before play started yesterday in Ironton, Capt. Davies and Manager Brooks protested about Davis and Johnson playing with the locals, but they played and did good work, but it was not in the books for the Smoke House team to win. Some of the players evidently suffered from stage fright and some costly fumbles were made.

The team did not play consistently or anywhere near its normal strength. The line at times was very weak and some big holes were ripped through it. Portsmouth also tore up the Ironton line, but the Tanks always stiffened at the psychological moment and their secondary defense was admirable.

Fans from all parts of the Tri-State were on hand and the crowd was an enthusiastic one. The Portsmouth rooters never gave up until the second touchdown was scored and then they quit cold. The crowd was handled beautifully and the Ironton officials, players and rooters deserve much credit for the capable and efficient manner in which the record crowd was handled.

Davies, Progler, Brooks, Moore, Poole and Maney were the stars of the Tanks yesterday. They were in every play. Davies was the individual star and his playing shone brilliantly. He is one sweet little player and is mighty hard to stop. One time he toppled over seven would-be tacklers before he was finally brought down.

Referee Hamilton stated last night that while the game was bitterly fought it was free from unnecessary roughness. Both teams were on their toes all the way and some very clever tackles were made. At one time two Tanks and three players piled up on the side lines and several spectators were knocked down.

It was the first game M. M. Chilton of the Portsmouth Dry Goods company had witnessed in six years and he wanted to do his share of the cheering for Portsmouth. He attempted to cheer his loudest when his "store pectic" fell to the ground. Thereafter Chilton was afraid to open his mouth wide enough to cheer.

Several of the N. and W. Smoke House players were so sure they would turn in a victory that they put up some of their own money in the game and of course lost. The result is that their best girl will now be shy of a Christmas present which December 25 rolls around.

After the game last night Capt. Davies stated that it was one of the hardest ever played in "and believe me I was in some tough battles up at Ohio State" Davies said last night. Every player was shot full of pep as about $2,800 was at stake. While this sum was taken in at the gate there were fully 800 more people on the ground who failed to pay.

It was Ironton's day to shine and that was all there was to it. The Ironton lugs had the utmost confidence in their Tanks and they flocked to the park like they never did before. It was a grand old day and Ironton had everything her own way.

They wanted to bet anything from a plugged penny to their new hotel or courthouse.

Local football fans who motored to Cannonville found the road in fine shape. It has been greatly improved and is in the best shape it has been in years.

Many local motorists made the distance, 70 miles in one hour yesterday.

JUST DOPE

DAYTON, O., November 29.—Two touchdowns by Fritz Pollard, colored star half-back, one after a forty yard pass and the other after he had run through the entire Triangle team, gave Akron a 11 to 0 victory over the Triangles of this city here yesterday.

By winning yesterday's game Akron lays claim to the national professional football championship. The team defeated the Canton Bull Dogs twice during the season and administered the same number of defeats to the Triangles, the other contender for the title.

IRONTON, Nov. 29—Roscoe (Pot) Hall, a well known C. and O. fireman and amateur pugilist, was arrested here last night by sheriff Hutchinson and lodged in jail at the request of Detective Sam Davis, former police chief of Huntington, on a charge of being a fugitive from justice. It was stated that Hall is wanted at Huntington on a charge of endorsing another man's name to a C. and O. pay check and getting the money.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Johnny Dundee and Willie Jackson, light-weight boxers, meet here tonight in a fifteen round bout to decide which of them will later attempt to wrest the light-weight crown from Benny Leonard.

Three years ago Jackson scored a knock-out over Dundee, but Dundee has defeated Jackson in subsequent bouts.

BOWLING

By a margin of 36 pins, Sam Elsenagle's Bear Cats won a hard fought bowling match from the All Stars at Ashland, Ky., on the latter's alleys, Saturday night, despite the fact that the locals dropped two out of three games. The locals piled up a count of 943 in their second game and this is what gave them the victory. The alleys, while fast, did not work the same and this sort of handicapped the locals in the opening game. The wood, too, was heavy and the local lads ran into many splits. They shot the series with but ten misses, and a lot of packed hits resulted in splits. Smith of the locals, was high man with 538, with Byron Prediger close by with 523. Bruno and Elsnagle tied for third honors with 516, while Jimmy Frazier brought up the rear with 461, due to a very poor game at the getaway. The scores:

Ashland—
Smith	159	180	193	532
Carroll	162	165	141	468
Blackwell	151	177	181	509

Many Old Friends Calling On Rev. McGuirk

C. W. Bierley has returned from Columbus, he visited his wife, who is recovering from a surgical operation she recently underwent in Grant Hospital.

While in the Capital City Mr. Bierley called on Father McGuirk, who is a patient in St. Carmel Hospital. He found him in good spirits and Father McGuirk believes he will be able to come home in a few days. He says many former Portsmouth residents have called on him and he had no idea that he has so many friends in Columbus.

CORPORATE COMMUNION AT ALL SAINTS

All the women of the congregation are urged to make their communion at 9:00 a. m. tomorrow Tuesday in response to the request of the Church Service League.

From 2:00 p. m. until 4.00 p. m. the chapel will be open and at this time it is expected that members of the confirmation preparation will visit it and offer brief prayers for the success of the work of the church in diocese, state, nation and world.

The day is also the feast of S. Andrew, Apostle and martyr.

MAKING SHOPPING A PLEASURE

PERSONS who have gone through a few last-minute Christmas shopping rushes do not need to be urged to do their buying early; they need only to be reminded. Advertisements will soon be emphasizing this counsel from every page, billboard and window. In the meantime stores, large and small, are making complete showings of Christmas goods at an unusually early date; it is to their interest, also, to spread the holiday trade over a period of weeks.

Many look upon selection of Christmas gifts as a disagreeable task to be delayed as long as possible. Others are merely careless. Some, unsystematic, are daily reminded of some friend whose remembrance has not been obtained. These are the various procrastinators who elbow and stampede each other, break down the display tables and overwhelm the clerks in Christmas week.

Yet Christmas buying, properly done, may well be a great pleasure. But to be done properly requires foresight, careful and systematic planning and prompt action. Call a family council this evening, make out a list of those to be remembered and decide what shall be sent to each. Then do your buying at the earliest possible moment. Your shopping will be pleasant and Christmas week will then find you carefree, with a capacity for real enjoyment of the Yuletide.

If all would co-operate, the holiday time could be made happy for the shopgirl, for the delivery boys, for the postman. But they are helped by the early shopper hardly more than the early shopper helps himself.

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM

THE fixing of a basis for congressional representation under the recent census will present perplexities. Should the numerical standard be not materially changed the membership would be materially increased and the present House is so large that it is agreed it is unwieldly. Should a ratio that would maintain the present membership be established some states would lose representation. No state wants to have a less number of members than it had before. Each member whose chances of return would be haphazarded by a reduction in a state's delegation would bitterly oppose any such arrangement.

A basis that would reduce the size of the House membership would be welcomed by many, but such a result is not probable for the very people who are interested in maintaining the numerical strength are the ones who make the decision. Yet it follows that the increase in the membership of the House cannot be continued indefinitely. If we continue to grow in population a limit will be reached. Too large a legislative body cannot do its work so well as a smaller one. In a multitude of counsellors there is confusion.

The states that already have the larger delegations are the ones that would profit the most by basing representation on the present standard. They, too, are the ones that would object the least to a slight reduction in the total membership for even with that their members or representatives would not be diminished necessarily. It is the states that have made little or no gain that would prove the objectors to any plan that would reduce the number of their representatives. The end, whatever it may be, will not be obtained without considerable trouble.

ALL TEACHERS ARE PRETTY

THE Institute for Publis Service has started a movement to persuade cartoonists to portray public school teachers as pretty women rather than "perfect frights." It is much in earnest, believing that pictures showing our feminine instructors of youth to be "homely as a rail fence," without beauty of face or grace of person, tend to breed disrespect not only for the occupation, but for the educational system in general. The ungallant conduct of some cartoonists is explicable only on the theory that they have retained that false sense of boyhood wrongs, of probably deserved punishments at the hands of early teachers and are now taking their revenge.

Perhaps the best way to cure the cartoonists who have been guilty of the discourtesy would be to have them attend a teachers' institute and make them sit on the platform under the merciless esrutiny of a thousand sparkling eyes. They would be so overcome by the display of consummate pulchritude, effectually refuting the insinuations of their slanderous cartoons, that they would take a vow never again to offend.

GOLDEN GATE PARK

By Frederic J. Haskin

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF., November 29.—Golden Gate Park in San Francisco enjoys not only the worthiest homage of all Californians, but world-wide fame as well. Many Europeans and Asiatics who have never heard of the California redwoods of the Yosemite Valley know all about this park, and hurry out to see it as soon as they arrive in San Francisco.

For Golden Gate Park, with all its "natural" beauty—its lakes and hills and wooded islands—is a made park, created entirely by the park commissioners of San Francisco since 1870. Before that date, the space now containing the park was a mere expanse of sand dunes stretching down to the Pacific ocean. Certainly not an encouraging prospect for a park, but the city had its own reasons for locating it there. For one thing the property then was not as valuable as that in other sections of the city, and the adjustment of land titles, it was thought, would be an easy matter. As it happened, many greedy land-owners attempted to interfere with the enterprise, but the city finally bought 1,013 acres of the dunes at the price of $850,000.

Once in possession of the tract, the park commissioners immediately started their comprehensive scheme for improving it. It was a courageous park commission. Hampered like most such institutions by lack of funds, every step of its work was rendered difficult. The necessary supplies of loam and fertilizing material were obtained only after much agitation, and then an independent water supply had to be fought for. While the San Franciscans of today insist that they always knew the park would turn out to be the handsome thing that it is, and that they were enthusiastic about it from the very beginning, the park records show that popular interest in those early days was very slim. Perhaps this was only natural, since what the landscape artist saw in the mind's eye was by no means visible to the ordinary citizen.

Conquering The Dunes

According to Superintendent John McLaren, who lives in the park, and has been engaged in developing it for many years, the sand dunes, in the beginning, stubbornly resisted reclamation. Lupin and barley were planted, but these would not hold the sand. Grass seed was then imported from France, which proved its efficiency at once. The resilient grass, which flourishes so extensively along the European Coast, was also used with gratifying success. This grass requires little moisture and no manure, but it is a wonderful catcher and holder of the sand. With its aid, the drifting sands were held in check until the Monterey cypress and other branches of the pine family were able to lend their assistance in holding down the land. In due time the meadows were sown with Kentucky blue grass, and on the hillsides madrone, manzanite, laurel and other native trees took hold.

Today, there is little evidence of this early struggle. Shrubs, hedges and trees have been planted with such cleverness that nature herself must sometimes be deceived into thinking that she put them there. Palm and pepper trees do not dominate the scene as they do in southern California. The eucalyptus tree—that queer, independent giant, which grows by leaps and bounds and sheds its leaves whenever it feels like it, instead of waiting for a definite season—is, of course, much in evidence, but so are lance-leaved sycamores and poplars and silver maples.

Stretching in an irregular line across the park from northeast to southwest, is a chain of lakes, which add marvelously to the charm of the landscape. So gently molded are the shore curves, so irregular the inlets, and so thickly wooded the islands in some of the lakes, that no one would dream they had been first designed on paper and brought into being by landscape engineers.

"Work on the largest lake," explained Mr. McLaren in discussing the lake chain, "required the excavation and removal of 38,000 cubic yards of material, and the deposit of the earth and sand in mounds and ridges 300 feet from the water line."

Along the margin of this lake there is a wide, smooth and extremely popular driveway. A special Lovers' Lane has been provided in the park, but the lovers, with their usual talent for finding soulful scenery, prefer this driveway instead. In the evening it is crowded with silent, motionless cars, apparently hypnotized by the view. Well, the light on the water is inspiring, and the seven little islands floating on the surface of the lake, leering tall birches and pine trees, with an undergrowth of rhododendron, ferns and alders, create an enchanting atmosphere.

Beneficiary of Rich Men

Golden Gate Park has long been the special darling of San Francisco philanthropists. Because it is so beautiful, perhaps, every millionaire of any consequence has wanted to have his name emblazoned there. The great center of popular interest, for instance, is the Temple of Music in Concert Valley, which was given to the park by the late Claus Spreckles, known as the Sugar King. It is in the Italian Renaissance design, the chief material used being Colusa sandstone of an agreeable color and of great hardness. The central structure has a frontage of 55 feet, is 70 feet high and is flanked on either side by Corinthian columns. It contains a large, semi-circular niche or band stand, with a capacity of 100 musicians. Extending from the Corinthian columns on each side are colonnades 52 feet high and 15 feet wide, each colonnade being supported by 16 Ionic columns.

In front of this temple thousands of people sit on Sundays and holidays to listen to band concerts. The seats are arranged in rows under a heavy canopy of foliage of short sycamore trees, whose branches have been clipped in the shape of wide umbrellas.

The dedication of the temple to the city was the occasion of a seething torrent of eloquence on the part of the accepting public. Public speakers struggled for adjectives that would do proper justice to the gift.

"He who gave this structure to the people has builded for himself an enduring monument," began one address—and ended: "From the tombs of Nippur and Nineveh, from Egyptian pyramids, from every carved image and monumental pile the world over, from shrines that tell where saints have suffered and where the light of loyalty has risen in palaces and set in sarcophagus and cenotaph; from the grave of Adam to the latest monument—all add their testimony to the irresistible desire of man to live though he be dead."

The Park Museum

Not far from the Temple of Music in the park is the Golden Gate Museum—the gift of Mr. H. de Young, of the San Francisco Chronicle. This building, which was the Fine Arts Building of the Midwinter Fair in 1894, was bought by Mr. de Young, filled by him with a number of valuable specimens and placed in the trust of the Board of Park Commissioners. When the reporter visited the park the other day, the museum was in the process of a much-needed enlargement, and exhibits were being moved from one room to another, some concealed by new, freshly painted partitions so that it was impossible to do them full justice. The Oriental collection, however, which was polite enough to remain where it was, appeared to be astonishingly fine.

Not all of the philanthropists building enduring monuments in the park have chosen masonry as their material. One of them is represented by a waterfall, known as Huntington Falls. This was given by Mr. Collis P. Huntington, but Park Commissioner W. W. Stow also deserves credit, for it was his idea to build a cascade from Strawberry Hill to one of the park lakes, and it was he who persuaded Mr. Huntington to provide the necessary $25,000.

The Children's Playground in the park, which has everything ever invented in the way of childish recreation—swings, merry-go-rounds, maypoles, donkey rides, goat carts, slides and candy stores—is also the unique gift of a San Franciscan philanthropist, William Sharon, who left $50,000 to the park in his will filed in 1887. Mr. Sharon did not stipulate how the amount was to be used, and at first the trustees of the estate were inclined to insist upon a massive arch or gateway, but they allowed themselves to be persuaded by the park commissioners into a memorial playground for little people.

One of the nicest features of Golden Gate Park is that it is so modernly practical as well as beautiful. It is a real playground for the people. It has a zoological collection of tremendous interest, including buffalo and elk paddocks and a very fine fowl pond; and when weary and footsore from pursuing wild animal life, there are rest and tea to be had in a quaint, little Japanese tea garden. Then there is the joy and pride of all San Franciscans—the park stadium, famous in park circles all over the world. It is a huge oval, embracing 30 acres and containing a race track, a running track, a bicycle track, spaces for hammer throwing, pole-vaulting and jumping; a basket ball court and six football fields, and a grand stand with seats for 100,000 onlookers.

And lastly, there is the Pacific ocean, barking at the shores of the park and providing it with an ever-changing background—the only thing in the park that the park commissioners have not been able to improve.

Q. Has wild sumac any value? C. L. A.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that sumac has long been used in the tanning of leather and in dyeing fabrics. The greater part of American sumac gathered has been used in dyeing cotton goods. Immense quantities, however, have remained ungathered and there is room for development of an organized sumac industry in this country.

Q. Please give a recipe for horehound candy? M. H. C.

A. Take two cupfuls of brown sugar, one cupful of corn syrup, and one half teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Pour over this the horehound liquid made by steeping 2 ounces of dried horehound in one pint of hot water. Boil down to a cupful before adding to sugar. If you do not wish it to be so strong of horehound do not use so much. Boil to the hard crack stage or about 300 degrees. Pour into a buttered pan. Mark deeply into squares while still warm.

Q. What state was first to decide upon "the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November" for election day? F. K.

A. New York claims this distinction, having fixed upon this time in the year 1841.

Q. Have the farmers made large profits during the period of high prices? G. C.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that a farm survey shows that comparatively few farmers have made large profits in the past few years. The average return on investment increased from about 4 1-2 percent to about 7 per cent.

Q. Is there to be a transcontinental airplane race from New York to Los Angeles this winter? A. S.

A. The Aero Club of America says there will be such a race this winter from New York via Washington, Atlanta, New Orleans, Texas, Arizona, New Mexico to Los Angeles.

Q. What is the glass called that is used in railway stations for roofs and which contains some metal? D. T. H.

A. This material is listed as wire glass. It is a combination of wire and glass and is used where a single wide-arched roof spans a large area and is depended upon to furnish light. It is also used for windows in exposed locations as a precaution against fire and other accidents. The iron of which the netting is composed has a higher fusing point than the glass and will retain its shape and hold the glass together even after the latter has become plastic.

Q. Who was known as the Great Commoner? P. K.

A. This was a popular title of William Pitt the elder, before he became Earl of Chatham and left the House of Commons for the House of Lords.

Q. Did Hetty Green amass her fortune herself, or was some of it inherited? I. D. K.

A. Mrs. Hetty Green was left a large fortune by her father, Edward Mott Robinson, who died when she was 20 years old. Two years later she married Edward H. Green.

"Petrol" Is Correct

"How about the bootleg goods in this town?" asked the stranger.

"In what particular?" said the old inhabitant.

"Is it potent?"

"'Potent' is the word. A gentleman of my acquaintance stepped out of a theater one night during an intermission and purchased a few drinks in a nearby alley. Then he returned to the theater."

"Well, what is so remarkable about that?"

"He didn't know until the door keeper kindly told him that it was the next night."

They Had Been Fooled Too Often

The lonesome one had been asked his opinion of scarecrows.

"No good at all," he grunted—"leastways, against the crows in this district! Only last year we put up what we thought was a fine scarecrow—a man pointing a gun."

"Well, what happened?"

"Why, all the crows in the world seemed to be feeding in that field, and whilst one crow perched on the gun and worked the trigger, another was falling down pretending to be shot."

Her First Sunburn

Susie, who had been at the seaside for a week, ran to her mother in great excitement.

The Danger of Flirting

"What became of the girl Masherton was flirting with in the early part of the summer?"

"You mean the girl Masherton thought he was flirting with. Oh. She married him."

A Visit Or Vacation

Charlie and his three sisters had been to visit a relative in the country. Though their invitation had been for only a week, their stay was lengthened to a month. In fact, the uncle was beginning to fear it was going to be a permanent infliction. But eventually they went.

"Well," asked the father, upon the return of his offspring, "was your uncle glad to see you?"

Charlie's face lit up with delight at the question. "Glad," he echoed. "Uncle glad! Why, dad, he wanted to know why we didn't bring you, mother, the maid, the cat, the canary and the goldfish!"

His Case

"The soldier who performed that hazardous feat is a raw recruit."

"Well, he might be raw, but his act was well done."

Magnanimous

"Dearest you don't want to marry me for my money, do you?"

"No, darling, but I don't hold it against you."

Cause For Cry

Johnny—"What makes the new baby over at your house cry so much, Harry?"

Harry (indignantly)—"It don't cry so very much, an' I guess if all your teeth was out, and your hair off, an' your legs so weak you couldn't stand on 'em, you'd cry some yourself."

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up pretty be times to say farewell to A. Roche, the novelist and Mistress Ethel who go a-journeying to California. Then to see H. Pollard, who has been struck ill, and he knew me not at all, poor fellow. Meeting my wife, poor wretch, we traveled to a perfume shop and I spent nearly a pound and revelled in the exquisite odors like a foolish dandy.

All the shops mightily filled with Xmas goods and pretty to see albeit there appears to be little purchased. Setting out briskly to the Savoy to lunch we saw R. Arbuckle, the cinema comedian, and he wore the bravest velour hat I ever saw with a great band of green. A merry party at the table but my chop had blood running from it and I could not eat, which seems a pity because another was paying the reckoning.

In the afternoon to music hall with H. Webster, the cartoonist and a comic fellow wearing a false beard and seemingly old came out on roller skates and did full the hardest I ever saw and kept it up until H. and I were so confused we did get up and leave, then came back and he was still at it, and we left again yet very few others seemed to see any humor at all in it.

To dinner with F. Kelly talking of this and that and in especial our love for dogs. Then home and began reading Harris's Life and Confessions of Oscar Wilde and very good too. And so to bed.

The best dressed young men in New York are usually without jobs. That is the statement of a man who has studied the matter. When a man loses a job and has saved a bit of money he immediately buys clothes and defies the boarding house landlady. New Yorkers have been drilled to believe that "a fine front" works many wonders.

There has been a big shake-up in the publicity staff of a large moving picture concern. The cause was an innocent little folder, intended to present to exchanges and motion picture houses the concern's program of picture plays for this fall and winter. These are the lines that escaped the entire editorial staff:

FALL POOROMS!

A doctor who is an ardent first nighter and well known in Broadway circles, declares that most of his patients are afflicted with New Yorkitis. They are generally 90 per cent. sound and the rest delusions. Each, he says, has a per phobia—a fear of elevators, crowds, subways, height, seats not on the aisle, etc. He blames it on the hurrying life, seeing the same faces, the same buildings and irregularity of eating and sleeping. He tells of one playwright who had psychic vertigo. He once had a dizzy spell on the street and ever after when he went on the street he became dizzy until the day came when he would not go out at all. He was never dizzy in his rooms. The doctor called for him one morning, induced him to go to the country for a ride. Five miles out he by a subterfuge, got the patient out of the car and then drove off. The patient had to walk home and for the first few miles was in terror. Then he quieted down and has never been dizzy since. "He simply lost his fear," added the doctor.

Several years ago a famous New York hotel was sued because a patron found a severed mouse in his beef en casserole. A suit is now pending against a restaurant by a patron who claims he found a human tooth in his salad. And yet the high price of food does not come down.

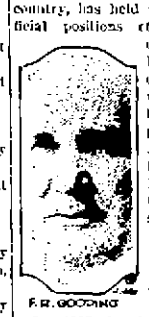
FRANK R. GOODING

Here is a man who, although he is ineligible for the office of president on account of his being born in a foreign country, has held numerous other official positions efficiently and successfully. He is Frank R. Gooding of Idaho. Gooding was born in England. In 1867 his parents came to America and settled in Michigan. Later they moved to California, but settled in Idaho.



F. R. GOODING

In addition to his public career he is one of the largest sheep owners in the west.

In 1905 he became governor of Idaho. At the expiration of his term he was re-elected. Later on he became state senator.

He was a candidate for the U. S. senate following Senator Brady's death, but was defeated. He was successful, however, at the recent election and will be one of the new U. S. senators to take office next spring.

TORCH IS APPLIED TO 15 LIVERPOOL WAREHOUSES

London Prepares For Attack By The Sinn Feiners

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 29—Fifteen warehouses in Liverpool and Bootle, a suburb, principally cotton warehouses in Liverpool, were set on fire last night. Two of the cotton warehouses in Liverpool were burned out. Gasoline cans and paraffin were found about the premises. It was stated in police quarters there was strong evidence that the fires were the work of Sinn Feiners.

Some shooting occurred after the outbreak of the flames. Constables on the scene were fired at and bullets passed through the clothing of some of them, but none was injured. One civilian was shot dead.

Five men were arrested in connection with the incendiary outbreak.

Prepared For Domestic War

LONDON, Nov. 29—London and other big English cities are grimly preparing to meet conditions of domestic warfare.

Red lights glowing in the night barricades in White Hall lend a sinister aspect to the official "heart of the empire," menaced by the twin dangers of Sinn Fein outrages and the possibility of Bolshevist disturbances.

General Horwood, in command of the London area, threw up the defenses in Downing street and around the houses of parliament and other public buildings as the result of the seizure of important documents. The documents had hardly been read when the defense of the ministerial offices was proclaimed, as the papers disclosed the plans to attack the ministry and other historic government offices. There is no reason to doubt that the defenses have been erected primarily as a protection against Irish gunmen, but they incidentally enable the police to deal more efficiently with the grave problems of London's huge army of unemployed.

Attempt To Fire Lumber Pile

LONDON, Nov. 29—Half a dozen men who were preparing to set fire to a lumber yard in the district of Finsbury, an important section of the city of London, less than a mile north of London bridge, were surprised by a policeman Saturday night. This attempt was almost coincident with the breaking out of incendiary fires in Liverpool.

The policeman challenged a loiterer who immediately attacked the officer and shouted for help. Five men with clubs answered his call, emerging from behind some empty wagons and attacking the policeman, who was compelled to liberate the man he had seen. All the men escaped.

Searching behind the wagons, the policeman found cotton waste soaked with gasoline had been pushed through a gateway of a lumber yard and he also discovered two revolvers and 100 cartridges.

Five of the supposed incendiaries were later arrested.

Bread Drops In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29—The price of a 24 ounce loaf of bread was reduced from 14 to 12 cents today by a grocery company operating a large number of stores here. Two cent reduction was made possible by the decline in the price of flour, it was announced.

Many Killed By Waterspout

TANGIERS, Nov. 29—Many persons lost their lives in a waterspout which yesterday laid waste some sections of this city. A number of houses collapsed during the storm, which raged with unprecedented violence.

Ex-Kaiserin Is Slightly Improved

DOORN, Holland, Nov. 29—The former German empress, Augusta Victoria, whose illness from a heart affliction took a turn for the worse yesterday, was reported better by her physician this morning. The ex-empress, it was said, had passed a good night.

Soviet Forces Continue Onrush

LONDON, Nov. 29—The Russian soviet forces operating against General Balakovitch, at the head of anti-Bolshevik forces, which resulted in the field after the Russo-Polish armistice, have pushed the remnants of the Balakovitch troops into the marsh district to the northwest of Mozyr. It was announced in Sunday's official statement from Moscow, received today.

Kitchin Has Second Stroke

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Representative Claude Kitchin, Democratic leader of the house, suffered a stroke of paralysis while attending to business pertaining to his district at the postoffice department building today. Physicians were summoned and pronounced the attack a slight one. This is the second stroke Kitchin has suffered. The first one occurred on the floor of the house last spring, following the delivery of a speech.

Auto Bandits Carry Away Two Safes

CLEVELAND, O., November 29.—Auto bandits carried away two safes last night, the loot in both robberies totalling $1,600. A safe in the Brooks Oil Company's down town filling station, containing $1,000, was stolen and another safe containing $600 was stolen from a west side confectionery store and later found, battered open, in Lakewood.

Government Party Wins In Uruguay

MONTEBIDEO, URUGUAY, November 29.—Election returns indicate the government party has scored a triumph throughout the country, obtaining two posts on the national administration council, on which the nationalists will have but one.

The party secured a majority of 14,000 in this city, and it is not expected returns from the country will greatly reduce this margin. The government party has won four seats in the senate, while the nationalists have been successful in carrying two.

CONSTANTINE NOT TO RETURN TO GREECE UNTIL PLEBISCITE IS HELD

ATHENS, Nov. 29—It is probable that former King Constantine will not return at once to Greece, but after the plebiscite to be held on December 5, a number of deputies and ministers may go to Switzerland to notify him of the result of the vote.

Every effort is being made to win the favor of France and Great Britain, which is taken to be evidence that Greece is disposed to remain pro-ally.

"The benefits of the Turkish treaty," said Demetrius Gounaris, minister of war, to the Associated Press today, "should in any case come to Greece, because they were not given her because of the personal influence of Former Premier Venizelos."

Followers of the former premier as a party are officially requested by leaders of the organization not to take part in the plebiscite. They point out the plebiscite will be held in order to clear the present cabinet and also Constantine of responsibility and to make the Greek people responsible for whatever consequences the return of the former king may have.

Army Favors Constantine

Returns from the vote cast by the army in the election of November 11 show that it will give the followers of Constantine a larger majority in the chamber. It is reported that 5,000 ballots cast by the army were fraudulent. Important British and French squadrons have arrived at Phaleron from Constantinople. So far no foreign ministers have left Athens.

Prince Christopher, brother of Constantine, has stated in an interview that the defeat of M. Venizelo was due to the fact that because of his foreign policy the Greeks felt they were reduced to the position of a colony. He declares it is false that Constantine was pro-German and asserts he was merely pro-Greek. "It would be folly," he adds, "to be pro-German today with Germany so low. Greece wants only to live in peace. This is Constantine's program."

FAMOUS X-RAY SPECIALIST DIES

PARIS, November 29.—Dr. Charles Infroit, famous X-ray specialist, is dead, according to announcement.

One of Dr. Infroit's hands became infected in 1896 as a result of his constant use of the X-ray and an operation was performed. Since that time he has undergone 24 operations, 22 of which were performed in the last ten years.

The last was on August 1, when his right arm and left wrist were amputated. His announcement in 1915 in the academy of medicine of Paris that he had extracted a shrapnel bullet from the heart of a soldier, was read with interest throughout the world.

To Remain In Lucerne

LUCERNE, SWITZERLAND, Nov. 29—Reports that Former King Constantine of Greece has already left for Athens are officially denied here. He has no intention of leaving Lucerne before the Greek plebiscite next Sunday.

Present arrangements, which are tentative, are that Constantine, his family and suite will leave on a special train for Brindisi a week from next Tuesday or Wednesday, and it is intended to embark there on a Greek warship. Should a deputation be sent here from Athens to announce to Constantine the result of the plebiscite, however, it is probable he will await it before leaving.

Dies Enroute From Paris

ROME, November 29.—Pietro Bertolini, Italian member of the allied reparations commission, died late yesterday on board a train on which he was coming to this city from Paris.

Weather

AMERICAN GUNMEN APPEAR IN IRELAND

LONDON, Nov. 29—American "gunmen" are said to have made their appearance in Londonderry Ireland, according to advices received here today. The presence of these mercenaries in Dublin and other Irish cities have previously been reported. The military authorities of Londonderry are taking all precautions in the event of attempted assassinations.

The police of Liverpool, dispatches from that city say, also believe American "gunmen" have invaded Liverpool. The police claim to have established connection between Sinn Fein headquarters and numerous strangers who are idling about the streets in groups of two or three and having the appearance of desperadoes.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—A steadier tone prevailed at the opening of today's stock market, last Saturday's rally in oils, shippings and steels, making further progress. American Linseed was the strongest feature, rising 3 3-4 points. Atlantic Gulf gained 1 point and Bethlehem Steel, Mexican Petroleum, Houston Oil, Southern Pacific and Norfolk & Western advanced large fractions. Within the first half hour, however, a reaction set in wiping out initial gains in oils and shippings. Heaviness developed in Virginia-Carolina Chemical, American International, Pan-American and various specialties. Foreign exchange was irregular, but the money market indicated a continuance of last week's easier conditions.

Big Criminal Docket

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29—Police court judges this morning faced a large docket as the result of the week-end activities of police in the crusade against vice and crime. A total of 315 cases were scheduled for disposal.

A week ago today the number totalled 391.

Police made a total of 158 arrests yesterday and last night, including 31 for liquor selling and seventeen for gambling.

25 M Hospital

It was stated at Hempstead hospital Monday that there were 25 patients in that institution.

U. S. TROOPS REACH WEST VIRGINIA; QUIET IN MINGO COAL FIELDS

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Nov. 29—A provisional battalion of approximately 500 men of the United States army camp at Chillicothe, Ohio, arrived here yesterday at noon. Colonel Herman Hall, commanding, immediately took up his headquarters at the county court house and armed guards were thrown around the building.

The troops are here in response to a request of Governor John J. Cornwell, who decided that the disorders of the past few weeks had created a situation with which the state and county officers could not cope.

Since the arrival of the soldiers the town has taken on the appearance of a military camp. The streets are filled with army mules, trucks and other paraphernalia and the sidewalks for long distances are piled high with tents and similar equipment.

Officers in charge of the troops will be billeted in the court house and the enlisted men are being quartered in the city hall and an old hotel which was recently turned into a hospital.

Detachments of soldiers have already been sent to Kermit, Borderland and Matewan for guard duty. No disorders have been reported since the arrival of the troops.

Tanks Live Up To Name; Bowl Over Smoke House, 14-0

Gridiron Classic Is Witnessed By Record Throng; Too Much Davies Is The Whole Story

With weather conditions ideal and the gridiron slightly sagey, close to 4,000 fans saw the Ironton Tanks and the local N. & W. Smoke House football teams battle in Beechwood Park at Ironton Sunday afternoon when the Irontonians defeated the local eleven 14 to 0, in the closing contest of the season.

The ultimate defeat of the local eleven came in the first three minutes of play when Davies, former Ohio State quarterback and the football pride of Ironton, called for a line shift, the old Army play, and receiving the oval started out on a wide right end run from the 32 yard line, which ended when he crossed the Portsmouth goal line for the first score. Pregler promptly kicked goal, bringing the score to 7 points. On his two step to the goal line, the crack quarterback marched directly through the entire Portsmouth eleven, first side-stepping one gridder and then shaking off another until his uncanny maneuvers brought him to the 8 yard line, when he sprinted over the last white line.

The first touchdown coming so early in the game, brought grim desperation to the local warriors, who hoping that Davies might not get loose on just such a run as occurred, were shocked to the extent that the eleven could not get its bearings. To Davies, the inspiration and nucleus of the uprisen team, goes the credit of the victory.

The second touchdown came 4 minutes before the end of the game when Pregler from the 20 yard line executed another right end run. Skirting the right flank man he darted through a broken field, following closely his interference which carried him beyond the goal line. He kicked goal doubling the score.

Football fans from Huntington, Ashland and other nearby towns flocked to Beechwood Park to witness the classic, while Portsmouth was well represented with about a thousand local people lining one side of the field. A special N. & W. train transported 000 enthusiasts from this city, while the Portsmouth-Ironton highway represented a steady stream of automobiles enroute to the biggest game of the season in Southern Ohio.

The crowd though bent on backing the teams with vociferous cheering was orderly and well handled by the squad of police. The officials, headed by Don Hamilton, of Columbus, noted football and basketball referee, rendered decisions over which not a murmur of disapproval was heard from any quarter.

Although the Tanks defeated the N. & W. Smoke House team by two touchdowns, they did not make manifest on the gridiron Sunday any superiority of strength in playing; but the indication is that they displayed a brand of team work and pep which was instilled in them by the presence and generalship of Shorty Davies, who carried the oval in a majority of the plays. Seemingly the Portsmouth gridders did not have the stuff in them to execute their plays with the rapidity and deftness of the Irontonians when they got close to the opposing goal. Coming within 20 yards of the Ironton goal several times, they were unable to break the Tanks' line for any material gains, nor were they able to complete forward passes. The line wavered in several instances and the backfield seemed slow at times, probably due to the presence of Davies who was awe-inspiring as the superman." So far as straight football is concerned, however, the N. & W. Smoke House eleven bucked the line with success more often than did the Tanks, but they were somehow or other unable to do the "Davies stunt" when within 20 yards of the goal. This may be explained the victory of the Tanks Sunday.

The game by plays:

Portsmouth won the toss and elected to receive, defending the north goal. Moore kicked off. Davis for Portsmouth receiving and carrying the ball back 15 yards. A line buck was unsuccessful. Davis fumbled, Padan fumbled, Burris recovering. Davis received a high pass from center and was forced back to the 12 yard line by Crawford. Davis was tackled on the 3 yard line by Barron, who broke through the Portsmouth line. Hankes was called back to punt and booted the oval to the 40 yard line. Line bucks gained 3 yards. On a line shift to the left, Davies drew the Portsmouth team to the left and skirting right end, he went through a broken field, crossing the last line for a touchdown. Time: 3 minutes. Pregler kicked goal. Score 7 to 0, favor Ironton.

Moore kicked off, the ball being received on the 20 yard line. Padan bucked the line for 2 yards. Davis made 5 yards around left end. Davis bucked the line for a yard. Receiving an 8 yard pass from Davis, Padan was stopped in his tracks by Davies. Portsmouth fumbled on the 25 yard line, Davies was tackled one yard behind the scrimmage line. Several line bucks were unsuccessful. Pregler punted to the 30 yard line. On second down Quinn made 2 yards through center. A poor pass from center resulted in a fumble; and Hankes was forced to punt, the oval going 25 yards. A series of shifts and trick Moore skirted right end for 2 yards. Poole failed to gain on a line buck. For holding, Ironton was penalized 10 yards, bringing the line of scrimmage to the Portsmouth 9 yard line. Davies made 3 yards through left tackle. Third down, 4 yards to gain when Pregler punted. Montgomery recovered and carried the ball back to the 25 yard line. Padan gained 2 yards through left tackle. Davis gained 4 yards through center; and repeated with a 2 yard gain, making first down. Quinn rammed center for 2 yards. The line on the offensive was making holes for the backfield men. Time-out was taken for Schachleiter. On fourth down and 5 yards to gain, Hankes was called back and punted the pigskin 30 yards, Davies receiving, and was downed on the 18 yard line. Poole failed to gain on a line buck. Moore punted, Montgomery receiving and was downed in his tracks. Davis recovered a fumble. A line buck netted one yard. Montgomery was taken back 5 yards when tackled by Davies. Hankes punted, Davies receiving and carrying the ball back 4 yards to the Ironton 35 yard line. The quarter ended. Chinn and Rehman were substituted for Davis and Hester.

Pregler gained 2 1-2 yards through the line; but was stopped on the next short right end run. Davies' forward pass was grounded. Pregler punted to Montgomery who received on the 35 yard line and carried the oval back 3 yards. A 10 yard penalty was inflicted for holding. Pearce received a forward pass and sprinted 25 yards before being tackled in mid field. Another 15 yard penalty was inflicted. Two forward passes were incomplete and then Montgomery heaved a forward pass directly into the hands of Moore on the 33 yard line. He gained 5 yards. Time out was taken for Moore. Ironton fumbled, Chinn recovering. Chinn made 10 yards on a line buck. Portsmouth's ball on Ironton 15 yd. line. Padan bucked line for a yard. Chinn lost a yard. Moore grounded a pass. Ironton had the ball on 20 yard line. Davies failed to gain on a short right end run. Hopkins was substituted for Montgomery. Pregler gained 2 yards through right tackle. Pearce grounded Davies' pass. Moore punted to the 40 yard line. Shoemaker took the place of Padan. Shoemaker gained 9 yards through the line. A pass was incomplete. Shoemaker on a wide right end run was tackled, both gridders falling behind the ropes into the crowd. On the next play Hopkins skirted left end for 5 yards. Hankes was shifted to right tackle and Johnson came in at right end. A pass was grounded. Padan made first down. On the 27 yard line, 2nd down, 5 1-2 yards to gain another forward pass was incomplete, and Ironton took the ball on downs. Heald took the place of Mayne at center. Pregler made 3 yards through right tackle. A short right end run netted 5 yards for Moore. Pregler made first down. Shoemaker intercepted a forward pass on the Portsmouth 40 yard line and was downed just as the half ended.

Davis for Portsmouth kicked off, Pregler recovering on the 20 yard line and shaking off two aggressors ran to the 45 yard line before being tackled by Burris. Davies bucked the line for a 10 yard gain. Poole made 5 yards off right tackle. Pregler failed to gain but followed with a yard gain through right tackle. Ironton was penalized 10 yards for holding. Davies' pass was grounded. On the 10 yard line Davis received Pregler's punt and carried the ball back 8 yards. Quinn was tackled on the line of scrimmage by Schachleiter. Quinn skirted right end for a yard. Davis bucked the line for 4 yards, making first down. From the Ironton 23 yard line, Padan went through right tackle for a 10 yard gain. Adams bucked the line for a yard. A five yard penalty for off-side was meted out to Portsmouth. Hankes was called back to punt the oval going to the 40 yard line. Pregler and Moore gained 6 yards through tackles. Davies made first down. Ironton received a 15 yard penalty for holding. On a wide left end run, Davies gained 11 yards. Pregler gained 5 yards on an end run. Davies followed with a 3 yard gain off right end, being tackled by Hankes as he was headed for the open field and but 35 yards from the goal. Portsmouth received the ball on an Ironton fumble. Off side cost Portsmouth 5 yards, after Johnson had cleared the scrimmage line and was close to the goal within reach of a touchdown only to be called back. On a short left end run, Padan gained 8 yards. Hankes punted, Davies receiving and going 25 yards to the 15 yard line. He fell in the crowd after being tackled by Johnson.

Taylor took the place of Burris. Poole gained 5 yards through right tackle. Davies made a yard. Baker took the place of Pregler and on the next play made two yards. Johnson blocked Davies' pass. Time out was taken for Davies. Adams intercepted Davies' pass on the 20 yard line and was downed. Quinn gained 5 yards on a short end run. Padan following with a 5 yard gain around left end. Davis gained three and one-half yards on a short left end run. Davis lost four yards when tackle behind the line of scrimmage. The third quarter ended with Portsmouth having the ball on the 15 yard line and 2nd down. Line bucks and end runs brought the oval to the 28 yard line in the last three minutes. Quinn received Davis' pass and gained 8 yards. Two more passes were incomplete. Brooks stopped Davis with a yard gain. Another pass was incomplete. A line shift and forward pass resulted in a fumble, Moore recovering for a 10 yard loss. It was Ironton's ball with no additional downs. Three yards were gained through the line. With six minutes yet to play, Ironton was penalized 5 yards for off-side. Pregler punted, the ball going into the crowd. Davis bucked the line for 9 yards; Padan gaining 2 yards through line; Chinn 2 yards through tackle. Ironton took the ball on Portsmouth's fumble. Davies netted 4 yards on short right end run. Time out taken when Davies changed sweaters. Davies went 10 yards on left end run to 29 yard line with four minutes yet to play. Pearce went in for Johnson. Pregler skirted right end and ran through broken field for 22 yards, crossing the line for the second touchdown. He promptly kicked goal, making the score 14 points.

Davis received on the kick off and carried the oval back 18 yards. Time out was taken for Davis who left the field with a broken nose. Hopkins took his place. Padan fumbled and was taken back 5 yards. On the 21st yard line, Chinn punted. Davies receiving and carrying the ball back 10 yards to the 40 yard line. A short left end run netted the Tanks 3 yards. Davies followed with 2 yard gain. Pregler added a 5 yard forward pass off right end. Poole brought down another 10 yard pass and was downed when the game ended. Score 14 to 0—Tanks.

DAVIES PULLED ONE WITH WHISKERS ON IT, BUT HE SCORED TOUCHDOWN

The Smoke House team has no alibis to offer for defeat in Ironton, Sunday. They were outplayed and that is the answer for the Tank victory.

It was a case of too much Davies. On the very first play after Ironton secured the ball on downs Davies pulled an ancient play and converted it into a touchdown from the 35 yard line. It was a fake criss-cross and Portsmouth fell for it. Davies started around the left end, halted and then darted around the right end and no one was near enough to tackle him and he raced to his goal line.

This fortunate play took the heart out of the Smoke House boys, but they kept plugging away and gained more yardage than Ironton in spite of their defeat.

Officials Right On The Job

Portsmouth's line was repeatedly offside and penalties were costly. The line played high and loose and the backfield men of the Tanks tore through it for surprisingly large gains.

Umpire Don Hamilton and Referee Ray Eichenlaub of Columbus handled the game and their decisions were undisputed. They saw every play and kept things moving. The only drawback to the game from a Portsmouth viewpoint was that Ironton won. But there are no sore spots so three cheers for the game, resourceful and hard playing Tanks.

Ironton Made Only 1 Change

The Ironton players showed wonderful endurance. Only one substitute was brought into play and then only for a short time. Ironton's second string men may not be so shifty, but what does that matter when 12 men can play the whole game and a gruelling tug-of-war game at that.

Portsmouth made frequent substitutions.

Game To Be Annual Affair

The rivalry was so intense that the game will be an annual affair in each city, in fact negotiations are already on for the Tanks to play in Millbrook next fall and the Smoke House team to play a return eng gement in Ironton. The team should divide the receipts or on a 60-40 basis.

There Were 2,800 Admissions

The receipts reached 2,800 and there were easily 3,000 fans in Beechwood Park when play started. The winner got all the kale so the Tanks will have lots of a jingle money this winter. The Smokehouse team got $50 for expenses and the winners paid the officials $50 per head. It was a great day all round for Cannonville.

600 Portsmouth Fans Saw Smoke House Team Defeated

There were fully 600 Portsmouth fans at yesterday's battle royal. Four hundred boarded the N. & W. special, 100 made the trip in machines and 100 on the noon train yesterday. The players made their headquarters at the Marting Hotel. The rooters had little chance to root, but when they did, oh boy, but they would cut loose. The crowd had a good time and was just as jubilant coming home on the special as it was going up. The trip to Ironton was made in 37 minutes, the train leaving here 20 minutes late.

Protests Availed Nothing

Before play started yesterday in Ironton, Capt. Davies and Manager Brooks protested about Davis and Johnson playing with the locals, but they played and did good work, but it was not in the books for the Smoke House team to win. Some of the players evidently suffered from stage fright and some costly fumbles were made.

The team did not play consistently or anywhere near its normal strength. The line at times was very weak and some big holes were ripped through it. Portsmouth also tore up the Ironton line, but the Tanks always stiffened at the psychological moment and their secondary defense was admirable.

Rooted For The Tanks

W. H. Lynn formerly in charge of the express company here who is a resident of Ironton was one of the several thousand spectators on the sidelines at the big game between the Tanks and Portsmouth and for a short while was undecided as to which team he should support. After Ironton made her first touchdown, Lynn selected Ironton as the team he had better cheer for and lost no time in making himself heard.

Big Fight Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—Johnny Dundee and Willie Jackson light-weight boxers, meet here tonight in a fifteen round bout to decide which of them will later attempt to wrest the light-weight crown from Benny Leonard.

Three years ago Jackson scored a knock out over Dundee, but Dundee has defeated Jackson in subsequent bouts.

Wrong Idea of Independence.

A show of independence is usually about as ridiculous as it is unwise. It's the exhibition of a mind that has not risen to the point where it sees things in perspective. Tired of one thing it decides that it will cut the job and do something else. But as a matter of fact most people just change their dependence from one employer to another and every time they do it they are becoming more irksome of "free dependence." Do we change of job that is not a promotion is a step backward. Most folks can be made to see it. They cannot understand that they have to learn every again and that means regained time lost. Think it over before you take the next leap—then.

Playgrounds.

The history of the public's awakening in the United States to the need of providing special facilities for child play is a comparatively brief one. Not long ago children have always played wherever they found themselves and with whatever materials they could find. But it was not until the latter part of the nineteenth century that it was recognized that playgrounds, alleys and crowded city streets are not the places for children to play. Now England and Germany, France, Italy, particularly, have taken the leading part in this movement.

Crowd Handled Beautifully

Fans from all parts of the Tri-State were on hand and the crowd was an enthusiastic one. The Portsmouth rooters never gave up until the second touchdown was scored and then they quit cold. The crowd was handled beautifully and the Ironton officials, players and rooters deserve much credit for the capable and efficient manner in which the record crowd was handled.

Davies The Individual Star

Davies, Pregler, Brooks, Moore, Poole and Maney were the stars of the Tanks yesterday. They were in every play. Davies was the individual star and his playing shone brilliantly. He is one sweet little player and is mighty hard to stop. One time he toppled over seven would-be tacklers before he was finally brought down.

Game Free Of Roughness

Referee Hamilton stated last night that while the game was bitterly fought it was free from unnecessary roughness. Both teams were on their toes all the way and some very clever tackles were made. At one time two Tanks and three players piled up on the side lines and several spectators were knocked down.

Cheers; Loses False Teeth

It was the first game M. M. Chilton of the Portsmouth Dry Goods company had witnessed in six years and he wanted to do his share of the cheering for Portsmouth. He attempted to cheer his loudest when his "store teeth" fell to the ground. Thereafter Chilton was afraid to open his mouth wide enough to cheer.

Gee, This Is Tough, Christmas Money Gone

Several of the N. and W. Smoke House players were so sure they would win in a victory that they put off a Christmas present when Dressing some of their own money in the lucky 25 rot's around game and of course lost. The result is that their best girl will now be shy.

Davies Comments On Game

After the game last night Capt. Davies stated that it was one of the closest games played in Ironton. Every player was shot full of pep as he believe me sure was taken in at the gate there. Every seat was filled and a good many people on the side lines. Davies said last night. There were fully 800 more people on the ground who failed to pay.

Ironton's Day To Shine

It was Ironton's day to shine and it did shine there was to it. The Ironton boys had the nearest approach to a good old day and Ironton had everything her own way.

They wanted to bet anything from a pinched penny to their new hotel or park like they never did before. It was the same old story.

PENNY ANTE — After Playing With "Cash Money"

Portsmouth Bowlers Defeated Ashland

By a margin of 76 pins, Sam Elsnaugle's Bear Cats won a hard fought bowling match from the All Stars of Ashland, Ky., on the latter's alleys, Saturday night, despite the fact that the locals dropped two out of three games. The locals piled up a count of 943 in their second game and this is what gave them the victory. The alleys, while fast, did not work the same and this sort of handicapped the locals in the opening game. The wood, too, was heavy and the local lads ran into many splits. They shot the series with but ten misses, and a lot of pocket hits resulted in splits. Smith of the locals, was high man with 568, with Byron Prediger close by with 523. Bruno and Elsnaugle tied for third honors with 516, while Jimmy Frazier brought up the rear with 461, due to a very poor game at the getaway. The scores:

Ashland—
Smith	159	180	153	532
Carroll	102	165	141	408
Blackwell	151	177	181	509
Alexander	170	130	166	465
Springer	169	158	167	494
Total	850	810	848	2508

Portsmouth—
Bruno	131	198	187	516
Elsnaugle	186	187	143	516
Smith	190	191	145	526
Frazier	115	167	179	461
Prediger	153	200	170	523
Totals	781	943	827	2551

Pollard Stars In Big Game

DAYTON O., November 29.—Two touch-downs by Fritz Pollard, colored star half-back, one after a forty yard pass and the other after he had run through the entire Triangle team, gave Akron a 14 to 0 victory over the Triangles of this city here yesterday.

By winning yesterday's game Akron lays claim to the national professional football championship. The team defeated the Canton Bull Dogs twice during the season and administered the same number of defeats to the Triangles, the other contender for the title.

Roscoe Hall Is Arrested

IRONTON, Nov. 29—Roscoe (Tot) Hall, a well known C. and O. fireman and amateur pugilist, was arrested here last night by sheriff Hotchinson and lodged in jail at the request of Detective Sam Davis, former police chief of Huntington, on a charge of being a fugitive from justice. It was stated that Hall is wanted at Huntington on a charge of endorsing another men's name to a C. and O. pay check and getting the money.

Can High Ball To Cannonville

Local football fans who motored to Cannonville found the road in fine shape. It has been greatly improved and is in the best shape it has been in years.

Many local motorists made the distance, 30 miles in one hour yesterday.

AMERICAN WOMEN WHO SAVED LIVES OF ITALIAN BABES RETURN TO THE U. S

Mrs. W. S. Marshall and Mrs. John R. Drake, photographed on their Carmania.

These two women, Mrs. W. S. Marshall and Mrs. John R. Drake of New York, are members of the committee of American women who have conducted milk stations in Italy. These stations saved the lives of thousands of Italian children in the past few years. The Italian government has expressed its gratitude by awarding the members of the committee decorations. Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Drake recently returned to America to report the work of the committee.

MAKING SHOPPING A PLEASURE

PERSONS who have gone through a few last-minute Christmas shopping rushes do not need to be urged to do their buying early; they need only to be reminded. Advertisements will soon be emphasizing this counsel from every page, billboard and window. In the meantime stores, large and small, are making complete showings of Christmas goods at an unusually early date; it is to their interest, also, to spread the holiday trade over a period of weeks.

Many look upon selection of Christmas gifts as a disagreeable task to be delayed as long as possible. Others are merely careless. Some, unsystematic, are daily reminded of some friend whose remembrance has not been obtained. These are fu[illegible] ators who elbow and stampede each other, break down the display tables and overwhelm the clerks in Christmas week.

Yet Christmas buying, properly done, may well be a great pleasure. But to be done properly requires foresight, careful and systematic planning and prompt action. Call a family council this evening, make out a list of those to be remembered and decide what shall be sent to each. Then do your buying at the earliest possible moment. Your shopping will be pleasant and Christmas [illegible] will then find you carefree, with a capacity for real enjoyment of the Yuletide.

If all would co-operate, the holiday time could be made happy for the shopgirl, for the delivery boys, for the postman. But they are helped by the early shopper hardly more than the early shopper helps himself.

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM

THE fixing of a basis for congressional representation under the recent census will present perplexities. Should the numerical standard be not materially changed the membership would be materially increased and the present House is so large that it is agreed it is unwieldly. Should a ratio that would retain the present membership be established some states would lose representation. No state wants to have a less number of members than it had before. Each member whose chances of return would be haphazarded by a reduction in a state's delegation would bitterly oppose any such arrangement.

A basis that would reduce the size of the House membership would be welcomed by many, but such a result is not probable for the very people who are interested in maintaining the numerical strength are the ones who make the decision. Yet it follows that the increase in the membership of the House cannot be continued indefinitely. If we continue to grow in population a limit will be reached. Too large a legislative body cannot do its work so well as a smaller one. In a multitude of counsellors there is confusion.

The states that already have the larger delegations are the ones that would profit the most by basing representation on the present standard. They, too, are the ones that would object the least to a slight reduction in the total membership for even with that their members or representatives would not be diminished necessarily. It is the states that have made little or no gain that would prove the objectors to any plan [illegible] ber of their representatives. The good, whatever it may be, will not be obtained without considerable trouble.

ALL TEACHERS ARE PRETTY

THE Institute for Public Service has started a movement to persuade cartoonists to portray public school teachers as pretty women rather than "perfect frights." It is much in earnest, believing that pictures showing our feminine instructors of youth to be "homely as a rail fence," without beauty of face or grace of person, tend to breed disrespect not only for the occupation, but for the educational system in general. The ungallant conduct of some cartoonists is explicable only on the theory that they have retained that false sense of boyhood wrongs, of probably deserved punishments at the hands of early teachers and are now taking their revenge.

Perhaps the best way to cure the cartoonists who have been guilty of the discourtesy would be to have them attend a teachers' institute and make them sit on the platform under the merciless scrutiny of a thousand sparkling eyes. They would be so overcome by the display of consummate pulchritude, effectually refuting the insinuations of their slanderous cartoons, that they would take a vow never again to offend.

GOLDEN GATE PARK

By Frederic J. Haskin

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF., November 29.—Golden Gate Park in San Francisco enjoys not only the worldwide homage of all Californians, but world-wide fame as well. Many Europeans and Asiatics who have never heard of the California redwoods of the Yosemite Valley know all about this park, and hurry out to see as soon as they arrive in San Francisco.

For Golden Gate Park, with all its "natural" beauty—its lakes and hills and wooded islands—is a made park, created entirely by the park commissioners of San Francisco since 1870. Before that date, the space now containing the park was a mere expanse of sand dunes stretching down to the Pacific ocean. Certainly not an encouraging prospect for a park, but the city had its own reasons for locating it there. For one thing the property then was not as valuable as that in other sections of the city, and the adjustment of land titles, it was thought, would be an easy matter. As it happened, many greedy land-owners attempted to interfere with the enterprise, but the city finally bought 1,013 acres of the dunes at the price of $800,000.

Once in possession of the tract, the park commissioners immediately started their comprehensive scheme for improving it. It was a courageous park commission. Hampered like most such institutions by lack of funds, every step of its work was rendered difficult. The necessary supplies of loam and fertilizing material were obtained only after much agitation, and then an independent water supply had to be fought for. While the San Franciscans of today insist that they always knew the park would turn out to be the handsome thing that it is, and that they were enthusiastic about it from the very beginning, the park records show that popular interest in those early days was very slim. Perhaps this was only natural, since what the landscape artist saw in the mind's eye was by no means visible to the ordinary citizen.

Conquering The Dunes

According to Superintendent John McLaren, who lives in the park, and has been engaged in developing it for many years, the sand dunes, in the beginning, stubbornly resisted reclamation. Lupin and barley were planted, but these would not hold the sand. Grass seed was then imported from France, which proved its efficiency at once. The sea-bent grass, which flourished so extensively along the European Coast, was also used with gratifying success. This grass requires little moisture and no manure, but it is a wonderful catcher and holder of the sand. With its aid, the drifting sands were held in check until the Monterey cypress and other branches of the pine family were able to lend their assistance in holding down the land. In due time the meadows were sown with Kentucky blue grass, and on the hillsides madrone, manzanite, laurel and other native trees took hold.

Today, there is little evidence of this early struggle. Shrubs, hedges and trees have been planted with such cleverness that nature herself must sometimes be deceived into thinking that she put them there. Palm and pepper trees do not dominate the scene, as they do in southern California. The eucalyptus tree—that queer, independent giant, which grows by leaps and bounds and sheds its leaves whenever it feels like it, instead of waiting for a definite season—is, of course, much in evidence, but so are huge-leafed sycamores and poplars and silver maples.

Stretching in an irregular line across the park from northeast to southwest, is a chain of lakes, which add marvelously to the charm of the landscape. So gently molded are the shore curves, so irregular the inlets, and so thickly wooded the islands in some of the lakes, that no one would dream they had been first designed on paper and brought into being by landscape engineers.

"Work on the largest lake," explained Mr. McLaren in discussing the lake chain, "required the excavation and removal of 48,000 cubic yards of material, and the deposit of the earth and sand in mounds and ridges 300 feet from the water line."

Along the margin of this lake there is a wide, smooth and extremely popular driveway. A special Lovers' Lane has been provided in the park, but the lovers, with their usual talent for finding restful scenery, prefer this driveway instead. In the evening, it is crowded with silent, motionless cars, apparently hypnotized by the view. Well, the light on the water is inspiring, and the seven little islands floating on the surface of the lake, bearing tall birches and pine trees, with an undergrowth of rhododendron, ferns and alders, create an enchanting atmosphere.

Beneficiary of Rich Men

Golden Gate Park has long been the special darling of San Francisco philanthropists. Because it is so beautiful, perhaps, every millionaire of any consequence has wanted to have his name emblazoned there. The great center of popular interest, for instance, is the Temple of Music in Concert Valley, which was given to the park by the late Claus Spreckles, known as the Sugar King. It is in the Italian Renaissance design, the chief material used being Colusa sandstone of an agreeable color and of great hardness. The central structure has a frontage of 255 feet, is 70 feet high and is flanked on either side by Corinthian columns. It contains a large, semi-circular niche or band stand, with a capacity of 100 musicians. Extending from the Corinthian columns on each side are colonnades 52 feet high and 15 feet wide, each colonnade being supported by 16 Ionic columns.

In front of this temple thousands of people sit on Sundays and holidays to listen to band concerts. The seats are arranged in rows under a heavy canopy of foliage of short sycamore trees, whose branches have been clipped in the shape of wide umbrellas.

The dedication of the temple to the city was the occasion of a seething torrent of eloquence on the part of the accepting public. Public speakers struggled for adjectives that would do proper justice to the gift.

"He who gave this structure to the people has builded for himself an enduring monument" began one address—and ended: "From the tombs of Nippon and Nineveh, from Egyptian pyramids, from every carved image and monumental pile the world over, from shrines that tell where saints have suffered and where the light of royalty has risen in palaces and set in sarcophagus and cenotaph; from the grave of Adam to the latest monument—all add their testimony to the irresistible desire of man to live, though he be dead."

The Park Museum

Not far from the Temple of Music in the park is the Golden Gate Museum—the gift of Mr. H. de Young, of the San Francisco Chronicle. This building, which was the Fine Arts Building of the Midwinter Fair in 1894, was bought by Mr. de Young, filled by him with a number of valuable specimens and placed in the trust of the Board of Park Commissioners. When the reporter visited the park the other day, the museum was in the process of a much-needed enlargement, and exhibits were being moved from one room to another, some concealed by new, freshly painted partitions so that it was impossible to do them full justice. The Oriental collection, however, which was polite enough to remain where it was, appeared to be astonishingly fine. Not all of the philanthropists building enduring monuments in the park have chosen masonry as their material. One of them is represented by a waterfall, known as Huntington Falls. This was given by Mr. Collis P. Huntington, but Park Commissioner W. W. Stow also deserves credit, for it was his idea to build a cascade from Strawberry Hill to one of the park lakes, and it was he who persuaded Mr. Huntington to provide the necessary $25,000.

The Children's Playground in the park, which has everything ever invented in the way of childish recreation—swings, merry-go-rounds, May-poles, donkey rides, goat carts, slides and candy stores—is also the unique gift of a San Francisco philanthropist, William Sharon, who left $50,000 to the park in his will filed in 1887. Mr. Sharon did not stipulate how the amount was to be used, and at first the trustees of the estate were inclined to insist upon a massive arch or gateway, but they allowed themselves to be persuaded by the park commissioners into a memorial playground for little people.

One of the nicest features of Golden Gate Park is that it is so modernly practical as well as beautiful. It is a real playground for the people. It has a zoological collection of tremendous interest, including buffalo and elk paddocks and a very fine fowl pond; and when weary and footsore from pursuing wild animal life, there are rest and tea to be had in a quaint, little Japanese tea garden. Then there is the joy and pride of all San Franciscans—the park stadium, famous in park circles all over the world. It is a huge oval, embracing 30 acres and containing a race track, a running track, a bicycle track, spaces for hammer throwing, pole-vaulting and jumping; a basket ball court and six football fields, and a grand stand with seats for 100,000 onlookers.

And lastly, there is the Pacific ocean, barking at the shores of the park and providing it with an ever-changing background—the only thing in the park that the park commissioners have not been able to improve.

Q. Has wild sumac any value? C. L. A.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that sumac has long been used in the tanning of leather and in dyeing fabrics. The greater part of American sumac gathered has been used in dyeing cotton goods. Immense quantities, however, have remained ungathered and there is room for development of an organized sumac industry in this country.

Q. Please give a recipe for horehound candy? M. H. C.

A. Take two cupfuls of brown sugar, one cupful of corn syrup, and one half teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Pour over this the horehound liquid made by steeping 2 ounces of dried horehound in one pint of hot water. Boil down to a cupful before adding to sugar. If you do not wish it to be so strong of horehound do not use so much. Boil to the hard crack stage or about 300 degrees. Pour into a buttered pan. Mark deeply into squares while still warm.

Q. What state was first to decide upon "the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November" for election day? F. K.

A. New York claims this distinction, having fixed upon this time in the year 1841.

Q. Have the farmers made large profits during the period of high prices? G. C.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that a farm survey shows that comparatively few farmers have made large profits in the past few years. The average return on investment increased from about 4 1-2 percent to about 7 per cent.

Q. Is there to be a transcontinental airplane race from New York to Los Angeles this winter? A. S.

A. The Aero Club of America says there will be such a race this winter from New York via Washington, Atlanta, New Orleans, Texas, Arizona, New Mexico to Los Angeles.

Q. What is the glass called that is used in railway stations for roofs and which contains some metal? D. T. H.

A. This material is listed as wire glass. It is a combination of wire and glass and is used where a single wide-arched roof spans a large area and is depended upon to furnish light. It is also used for windows in exposed locations as a precaution against fire and other accidents. The iron of which the netting is composed has a higher fusing point than the glass and will retain its shape and hold the glass together even after the latter has become plastic.

Q. Who was known as the Great Commoner? P. K

A. This was a popular title of William Pitt the elder, before he became Earl of Chatham and left the House of Commons for the House of Lords.

Q. Did Hetty Green amass her fortune herself, or was some of it inherited? I. D. K

A. Mrs. Hetty Green was left a large fortune by her father, Edward Mott Robinson, who died when she was 20 years old. Two years later she married Edward H. Green.

Moon Love

Moonlight is beaming,
Stars shine above,
Soft breezes blowing
For you, my love.

Love, in the moonlight,
Come back to woo
Here in the love light
I wait for you.

Dreams in the moonlight
I still recall.
You and the love light
Dearest of all.

Moonlight is beaming,
Stars shine above,
Soft breezes blowing,
Waiting for love.

"Potent" Is Correct

"How about the bootleg goods in this town?" asked the stranger.

"In what particular?" said the old inhabitant.

"Is it potent?"

"Potent is the word. A gentleman of my acquaintance stepped out of a theater one night during an intermission and purchased a few drinks in a nearby alley. Then he returned to the theater."

"Well, what is so remarkable about that?"

"He didn't know until the door keeper kindly told him, that it was the next night."

They Had Been Fooled Too Often

The bucolic one had been asked his opinion of scarecrows.

"No good at all," he grunted—"leastways, against the crows in this district! Only last year we put up what we thought was a fine scarecrow—a man pointing a gun."

"Well, what happened?"

"Why, all the crows in the world seemed to be feeding in that field, and whilst one crow perched on the gun and worked the trigger, another was falling down pretending to be shot."

Her First Sunburn

Susie, who had been at the seaside for a week, ran to her mother in great excitement.

"Oh, mamma, mamma," she cried, exhibiting her brown little hands, "I'm turning into a little niggeress."

The Danger of Flirting

"What became of the girl Mosherton was flirting with in the early part of the summer?"

"You mean the girl Mosherton thought he was flirting with. Oh. She married him."

A Visit Or Vacation

Charlie and his three sisters had been to visit a relative in the country. Though their invitation had been for only a week, their stay was lengthened to a month. In fact, the uncle was beginning to fear it was going to be a permanent infliction. But eventually they went.

"Well," asked the father, upon the return of his offspring, "was your uncle glad to see you?"

Charlie's face lit up with delight at the question. "Glad," he echoed. "Uncle glad! Why, dad, he wanted to know why we didn't bring you, mother, the maid, the cat, the canary and the goldfish!"

His Case

"The soldier who performed that hazardous feat is a raw recruit."

"Well, he might be raw, but his act was well done."

Magnanimous

"Dearest you don't want to marry me for my money, do you?"

"No, darling, but I don't hold it against you."

Cause For Cry

Johnny—"What makes the new baby over at your house cry so much, Harry?"

Harry (indignantly)—"It don't cry so very, much, an' I guess if all your teeth was out, and your hair off, an' your legs so weak you couldn't stand on 'em, you'd cry some yourself."

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up pretty late to have to say farewell to A. Roche, the novelist and Mistress Ethel who go a-journeying to California. Then to see H. Pollard, who has been struck ill, and he knew me not at all, poor fellow. Meeting my wife, poor wretch, we traveled to a perfume shop and I spent nearly a pound and revelled in the exquisite odors like a foolish dandy.

All the shops mightily filled with Xmas goods and pretty to see albeit there appears to be little purchased. Setting out briskly to the Savoy to lunch we saw R. Arbuckle, the cinema comedian, and he wore the bravest velour hat I ever saw with a great band of green. A merry party at the table but my chop had blood running from it and I could not eat, which seems a pity because another was paying the reckoning.

In the afternoon to music hall with H. Webster, the cartoonist and a comic fellow wearing a false beard and seemingly old came out on roller skates and did fall the hardest I ever saw and kept it up until H. and I were so confused we did get up and leave, then came back and he was still at it, and we left again yet very few others seemed to see any humor at all in it.

To dinner with T. Kelly talking of this and that and in especial our love for dogs. Then home and begun reading Harris's Life and Confessions of Oscar Wilde and very good too. And so to bed.

The best dressed young men in New York are usually without jobs. That is the statement of a man who has studied the matter. When a man loses a job and has saved a bit of money he immediately buys clothes and dodges the boarding house landlady. New Yorkers have been drilled to believe that "in fine front" works many wonders.

There has been a big shake-up in the publicity staff of a large moving picture concern. The cause was an innocent little folder, intended to present to exchanges and motion picture houses the concern's program of picture plays for this fall and winter. These are the lines that escaped the entire editorial staff:

FALL POGROMS!

A doctor who is an ardent first nighter and well known in Broadway circles, declares that most of his patients are afflicted with New Yorkitis. They are generally 90 per cent sound and the rest delusions. Each, he says, has a pet phobia—a fear of elevators, crowds, subways, height, seats not on the aisle, etc. He blames it on the hurrying life, seeing the same faces, the same buildings and irregularity of eating and sleeping. He tells of one playwright who had psychic vertigo. He once had a dizzy spell on the street and ever after when he went on the street he became dizzy until the time came when he would not go out at all. He was never dizzy in his rooms. The doctor called for him one morning, induced him to go to the country for a ride. Five miles out he by a suggestion, got the patient out of the car and then drove off. The patient had to walk home and for the first few miles was in terror. Then he quieted down and has never been dizzy since. "He simply lost his fear," added the doctor.

Several years ago a famous New York hotel was sued because a patron found a secreted mouse in his beef en casserole. A suit is now pending against a restaurant by a patron who claims he found a human tooth in his salad. And yet the high price of food does not come down.

FRANK R. GOODING

Here is a man who, although he is ineligible for the office of president on account of his being born in a foreign country, has held numerous other official positions efficiently and successfully. He is Frank R. Gooding of Idaho. Gooding was born in England. In 1867 his parents came to America and settled in Michigan. Later they moved to California, but settled in Idaho.

F. R. GOODING

In addition to his public career he is one of the largest sheep owners in the west.

In 1905 he became governor of Idaho. At the expiration of his term he was re-elected. Later on he became state senator.

He was a candidate for the U. S. senate following Senator Brady's death, but was defeated. He was successful, however, at the recent election and will be one of the new U. S. senators to take office next spring.

BELIEVES WOMAN HAD RECEIPT OF FIRM

W. L. Reinert of the Reinert Clothing company stated Monday that he was at loss to figure out how one of his cards or receipts could have reached Baltimore, where it was found Saturday in a woman's purse in a pool of blood near that city. The woman may have been murdered and the card or receipt may be the means of establishing identification of the owner.

"I am inclined to believe that it is one of my receipts rather than a card" Mr. Reinert told a Times' man last night. "It probably has been carried around some time. Our receipts bear the name of our company and our address 840 Gallia street."

A slip of paper found in the woman's purse contained the address of "80 Continental Building Washington D. C. and on the reverse side was written the name "R. Torry former civil service examiner."

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH NEWS

The Loyal Men will meet in regular weekly session at the church on Tuesday evening of this week, and a fine time is anticipated. Previous to the meeting, the men's chorus will hold a thirty minute session and will be coached by Professor Joseph Kershaw, who has agreed to revamp the chorus and arrange the voices. Every member of the chorus is asked to be present.

Section Four will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Oscar Robinson, 1730 Fifth street.

The Woman's Union will meet in regular monthly session at the church on Thursday afternoon of this week, with Section Two in charge of both social and devotional exercises.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday with the Loyal Workers' Class in charge.

Choir practice on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Class 3, Loyal Women will meet at the home of Mrs. Drennen, 1401 Third street, Thursday evening, December 3. Election of officers.

The Loyal Sons' class will hold an important meeting at the church on Tuesday evening, November 30. Election of officers for 1921.

Section Two will meet Tuesday afternoon at the church. All members are urged to be present.

I. C. Cahill, secretary of the Ohio Christian Missionary Society, occupied the pulpit on Sunday evening, and was greeted by a splendid crowd. He delivered a very forceful sermon, as he always does.

Pumpkin an American Plant.

The home of the pumpkin is believed to be America. It has been found growing wild in Mexico, and was under cultivation by the aborigines in Florida, Mexico and the West Indies, when these regions were first visited by Europeans. Doctor Gray, the botanist, believed that all species except gourd squash are American. The species and varieties of this vegetable have been so confused that this is not certain. The cheese pumpkin and the sugar pumpkin are used for making a circular opening in the top, the center of which is the stem. Through this hole the seeds and pulp are removed, and the cavity filled with sliced apples, spices and sugar. The whole is then baked and served.

Big Damage Suit To Be Held

What promises to be one of the biggest legal battles ever fought in the local court, is scheduled to start before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court Wednesday morning when the big damage suit of The Robert Grace Contracting company of Pittsburgh against The Chesapeake & Ohio Northern Railway company will go to trial.

The plaintiff is seeking to recover almost a quarter million dollars on a claim for damages and for extras on its contract for building the railroad through parts of Scioto and Pike counties in 1914 and 1915.

Quite an array of legal talent will appear in the case and many expert witnesses from a distance will be here to testify during the course of the trial, which is expected to require at least three weeks to finish.

Attorneys Frank Dinsmore and Floyd Williams, of Cincinnati, and Miller & Searl, of this city, will appear for plaintiff and Attorneys Fred C. Rector of Columbus, and Bannon and Bannon and A. Z. Blair, of this city, will represent the railroad company.

THIS IS LAST WEEK OF RED CROSS DRIVE; HAVE YOU ENROLLED?

This is the last week of the Fourth Red Cross Roll Call, and now is the time for everyone who has not joined to pay their dollar for a membership in one of the greatest organizations of the world.

The Red Cross membership campaign will be brought to a close this week sure, Fourth Red Cross Roll Call Chairman Orla E. Rickey announced Saturday.

The total membership so far, is around the 3700 mark, but this week the house-to-house canvassers finishing their work and the county districts completing their campaign, along with the drive to be made at the steel plant, it is hoped to end the Roll Call with the membership totalling near the 5,000 mark.

It will take some hard work to get the 1,300 needed memberships to make this total, but the workers are going to do their best this week to accomplish this end.

All who have not taken out a membership for 1921 in the Red Cross are urged to do so at once. Should any of the membership solicitors miss you it is all right to send a dollar and your name and address to the Red Cross office, First National Bank building.

What is an Earthquake?

Nothing is more terrifying than an earthquake, in the presence of which we stand powerless to act effectively. Earthquakes are caused by rapid vibrations of the earth's interior. The displacements—that is, the amplitude of the vibrations—in the great majority of earthquakes is only the fraction of a millimeter. When it exceeds four or five millimeters the quake is destructive! Tremors of the earth's crust are measured by means of delicate instruments known as "seismographs" which are freely swinging pendulums, so placed that they trace markings upon paper, which the tracing needle just touches. These modern instruments do not only tell when an earthquake has occurred, but they record tremors in all parts of the world, and one of the highly significant facts brought to light by this means is that minute and "imperceptible" tremors of the earth are almost constant and some at least of these tremors consist in three series of waves—the first and second phases being the "preliminary" tremors, and the larger waves the "main shock."—Hereward Carrington in Leslie's.

Chief Lemuel Occum Fielding, left, his daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Germaine, and his son, Everett M. Fielding.

Chief Lemuel Occum Fielding, last chief of the ancient tribe of Mohicans that once ruled the entire Indian population of New England, is visiting Washington for a double purpose. First he wishes to present the president with an Indian tea to restore his health, and second he wishes to secure for the remnants of his race a slice of the business district of Norwich, Conn. The land is valued at $2,000,000, which he claims was deeded to his tribe by a former governor of Connecticut in 1830. With Chief Fielding are his son and daughter.

TO FACE CHARGE OF STEALING AUTOMOBILE

Accused Of Hunting On The Bannon Farm Without Permit

Three men giving the names of John Wilburn, Ballard Salyer and A. T. Murphy were arrested Monday on a charge of hunting on the Bannon Farm on the Scioto Trail without permission of the owners. They will be given a hearing in municipal court this week. Warrants for their arrests were signed by Deputy Game Protector F. D. Voorhees.

SHRINE CLUB DANCE WILL BE BIG AFFAIR

Judging by the interest taken in the Shrine Club dance to be held at the Auditorium, Gallia and Bond streets tomorrow, Tuesday evening November 30, the crowd will be one of the largest in the history of local dancing. The Shriners have left nothing undone to make the affair a very happy event and to add to the gayety of the occasion are giving the dance complimentary to the Knights Templars and Scottish Rite Masons, together with their wives, sisters and sweethearts. According to H. Glen Davis, secretary of the Shrine Club, it will be necessary for the Knights Templars and Scottish Rite Masons to show their ticket receipts at the door. The dance will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock. Hills famous orchestra will furnish the music. Refreshments will be served by the club complimentary to all who attend.

Rooted in Vain

Supt. Wm. Weidner of the county infirmary is a dyed in the wool football enthusiast. He made the trip to Ironton Sunday and rooted for the Smoke House team, but in vain. He will try it over next year.

Noah Holt, well known local police character, who was apprehended by the authorities of Paris, Ky., as a fugitive from justice, was returned here Sunday by Sheriff Rickey to meet a charge of stealing an automobile from this city last June.

The stolen machine was a Ford touring car belonging to Walter Spriggs, Jackson county farmer, and it was taken from the Interstate barn on Fifth street on the night of June 14.

The arrest of Holt followed the finding of the missing machine at a garage at Washington C. H., and he was identified by the garage owner as the man who left the machine at his place.

A few hours before he was to be brought to trial before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court, the accused jumped his $500 bond and fled to Kentucky. Holt strenuously denied his guilt and his attorneys, A. C. Woodrow and Harry W. Miller were unable to explain his strange conduct in running away.

NOTICE

HARDING'S NEW DESK WILL HAVE A BIT MORE ROOM

The desk and chair vacated by President-elect Harding in the senate chamber and a grafted photo showing how Harding will look at desk now used by President Wilson in the White House.

Next: Men keep their desks "in terrible shape," according to furniture stenographers who try to keep "the Navy" papers straightened up. So President-elect Harding and President Wilson will have to "clean house" when they leave the desk they've had for years. Harding's desk in the senate chamber isn't a very concern, however. Whether he'll use the desk now used by President Wilson in the capitol isn't known, but he'll have a roomier one than his senatorial "lift-top" was.

Charged With Disorderly Conduct

Two young men giving their names as James Stone, 18, and Charles Hudson, 18, were taken into custody by the police Sunday night and locked up at the city jail on charges of disorderly conduct.

The pair created quite a disturbance at Shepherd's restaurant on Tenth street, according to the police, when they attempted to break into a room there.

OBITUARY

Fred W. Krekeler

Death late Saturday night claimed Fred W. Krekeler at his home, 241 Fourth street, after an extended illness. Death was caused by heart trouble and complications. Mr. Krekeler had been ailing since July last, but was able to work a few days at a time. He quit work ten days ago.

Mr. Krekeler had been employed at the A. Geltler and Company's meat market on Market street as butcher for eleven years or since the family moved to Portsmouth from Carey's Run.

The deceased was 36 years of age October 31 last. He was born on the West Side, where he spent all of his young life. On coming to Portsmouth the family settled in the West End, where Mr. Krekeler had many friends.

The widow, Sarah Davis Krekeler and four children, Ruth, Edward, William and Margaret survive. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. Ella Blake, of Lincoln street, this city.

Mr. Krekeler had attended the Men's Bible class of the First Evangelical Sunday school. He was also a member of the Portsmouth Court, Tribe of Ben Hurr.

Funeral services will be held from the home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with Rev. Samuel Lindemuth in charge of the service.

Burial will be probably at Friendship.

Minister Is Grateful

On the eve of Nov. 21 the people of Lucasville and vicinity surprised us with an excellent donation consisting of vegetables, fruits and groceries.

The kind and generous hearted folks are making possible a very pleasant situation for the pastor and family.

Moreover, a new furnace has just been installed in the parsonage which adds great comfort to the home.

The loyal and estimable "L. A. S." is responsible for this improvement. They meet most every emergency that arises so nobly.

REV. L. C. GODBEY.

Old Roman Kitchen.

When the Roman empire was at its height, the kitchens of the rich boasted saucepans lined with silver, pails inlaid with arabesques, pastry molds shaped like shells and an infinite assortment of cookers, pans, molds and tart dishes.

Scorched Feet.

"What's the matter with that new arrival?" asked Satan, angrily. "He's bellowing loud enough to be heard clear across the brimstone lakes." "When he was on earth, sire," replied an imp, "he went to church and got converted once or twice a year. He just now noticed a whitehot circular path for a standard bearer."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

SILVER NET AND FILET LACE COMBINE IN THIS DELICATE COSTUME BLOUSE

Here is one of the most charming of the season's blouses. It is designed in dull silver net with a front panel or vestee of filet lace. A girdle of narrow silk ribbon in a "blue soldat" shade ties with studied carelessness at the side. The blouse is collarless, as are so many of the new models, but it has small cuffs of the filet net.
